Brownell Says Truman Kept Soviet Spy on Job After 'Bad' FBI Report

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Ex-President Says 'Politics'

CHICAGO (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell charged that President Truman kept Harry Dexter White, a Treasury aide, in the government and promoted him in the face of an FBI report that White was a Russian spy.

His charge brought an immediate denial from Truman who declared Brownell was trying to offset Republican political setbacks.

Brownell related what he called the "incredible" action by Truman in an address prepared for the Executives Club of Chicago.

He said the FBI twice gave reports on White's espionage activities to Gen. Harry Vaughan, military aide and close friend of Truman, for delivery to the President.

* * *

TRUMAN WAS INFORMED in Kansas City of Brownell's remarks. The former President said: "I don't recall that such a thing happened. As soon as we found out that White was wrong we fired him."

Truman then added that the Eisenhower administration is "desperate."

"There is a desperate effort to offset what has happened in New York and New Jersey," he said, referring to Tuesday's elections, "and they'll stop at nothing, lies or anything else, to accomplish their purpose. They're scared. They're desperate."

In Alexandria, Va., Vaughan told a reporter that he has no recollection of ever having known White, and "certainly never received any such report" from the FBI.

"I can't conceive of J. Edgar Hoover (the FBI director) giving such a report to my office rather than to the Department of Justice," Vaughan said.

"It seems very illogical," he added, saying that as far as he was concerned, Brownell "seems to be stretching his imagination."

* * *

WHITE, WHO held many degrees in economics and a reputation as a monetary expert, came into the government in 1934 during the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration. He held a number of high posts, rising to be assistant secretary of the treasury.

In more recent years, his name was brought frequently into congressional investigations of subversive activities.

White died at his summer home in New Hampshire Aug. 16, 1948, a week after he appeared before the House un-American Activities Committee and denied testimony that he was a member of an "elite" group in the Communist apparatus in Washington.

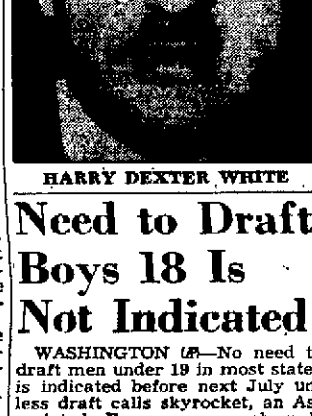

* * *

THE ACCUSATION had been made by Elizabeth Bentley, self-identified Communist party courier who created a sensation in 1948 by naming a number of former government officials as members of what she called the Communist apparatus.

Although Truman spoke of having "fired" White, newspaper files show that the White House announced on April 9, 1947, that White was resigning as executive director of the International Monetary Fund. The White House made public at the time a letter from Truman to White in which the President said he was accepting the resignation with "sincere regret and considerable reluctance."

Brownell swung into his story of White and Truman after saying "it is a source of humiliation to every American that during the period of the Truman administration the Communists were so strikingly successful in infiltrating the government of the United States."

This, he said, had left to the Eisenhower regime a "very difficult task" of weeding out subversive elements from the federal pay roll.

HARRY DEXTER WHITE

Brownell recounted that White, holding numerous degrees from leading universities of the country, entered government service in 1934 and steadily progressed upward "until by 1945 he was one of the most important men in the United States government."

His service included duties with the Tariff Commission, the Treasury Department and the Export-Import Bank. At one time the Treasury sent him to England to make special economic studies. On another occasion, Brownell said, former Treasury Secretary Morgenthau took him on a trip to Italy and North Africa.

* * *

WHITE WAS described as having drafted the Morgenthau plan for the treatment of Germany following World War II. This was a proposal in effect that Germany be reduced to a pastoral state, deprived of heavy industry. It was never adopted.

"Notwithstanding all this," Brownell said, "Harry Dexter White was a Russian spy.

"He smuggled secret documents to Russian agents for transmission to Moscow. Harry Dexter White was known to be a Communist spy by the very people who appointed him to the position he ever held in government service."

* * *

"I CAN NOW announce officially, for the first time in public, that the records in my department show that White's spying activities for the Soviet government were reported in detail by the FBI to the White House by means of a report delivered to President Truman through his military aide, Brig. Gen. Harry Vaughan, in December of 1945."

Brownell said that one month later Truman advanced White to the post with the International Monetary Fund. Thereupon, he said the FBI compiled a special and detailed report on White "and his espionage activities" and delivered this to Gen. Vaughan to be given to the President on Feb. 4, 1946.

"And yet the Senate Banking and Currency Committee was permitted to recommend White's appointment on Feb. 5 in ignorance of the report.

"And yet the Senate Banking and Currency committee was permitted to recommend White's appointment on Feb. 5 in ignorance of the report.

"The Senate itself was allowed to confirm White on Feb. 6, without the Senate being informed that White was a spy."

Ike Orders Freer Flowing of News From U.S. Offices

Old Truman 'Security Secrets' Measures Repealed by Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has issued an order designed to give citizens a freer flow of information about their government without jeopardizing national security.

Effective Dec. 15, the order replaces a controversial measure former President Truman put on the books Sept. 24, 1951.

In announcing the forthcoming repeal of the Truman order, Atty. Gen. Brownell denounced it as smacking of "dictatorship." The Cabinet officer also said that under the old order government officials could "cover up dereliction" of duty and mistakes.

Truman, responding to similar criticism from editors when his order was issued, denied there was any cover up involved. He said the measure actually would promote the flow of news and sought only to keep security secrets from potential enemies.

* * *

BROWNELL outlined the new Eisenhower order.

In brief, the Eisenhower order:

1. Eliminates the "restricted" category for classifying government data as harmful to national security if made public—leaving only "top secret," "secret" and "confidential."

2. Sets up a system for receiving complaints, from newsmen and others outside the government, and for checking up on the program.

3. Takes away document-classifying authority from 28 agencies, such as the American Battle Monuments Commission and the Veterans Administration.

4. Gives classifying authority to the heads only, with no power to delegate it to someone else, of 17 agencies, like the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

5. Permits the heads of other agencies, such as the Defense Department, to name an employee as classifying officer.

6. Defines what information is to be classified, how it is to be transmitted and stored, marked and, when indicated, destroyed.

* * *

A WHITE HOUSE statement said the purpose of the order is to attain "a proper balance between the need to protect information important to the defense of the United States, and the need for citizens of this democracy to know what their government is doing."

The statement added:

"The issuance of this order will revise, in a manner more in keeping with the American tradition of freedom of information, existing requirements for the safeguarding of defense information."

Brownell said the order in final form incorporates one major change—a system of review to insure that (1) information is not improperly withheld, and that (2) security data is properly safeguarded.

* * *

ON THE FIRST COUNT, the order provides for appointment by the President of a staff member to "receive, consider, and take action upon, suggestions or complaints from non-governmental sources relating to the operation of this order."

James Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Eisenhower plans to assign that job to Bernard Shanley, presidential special counsel. There had been suggestions that such appeals be handled by a board of working newsmen; these were not adopted.

To make sure security information is properly safeguarded, the National Security Council will conduct a continuing review of the order.

* * *

THE EISENHOWER order sorts federal departments and agencies into three groups:

1. The 28 with no power to put a security label on official information, although they may request agencies with classification power to do it for them in "exceptional cases."

2. The 17 in which only the agency heads have such power but can not delegate it to subordinates.

3. All the other departments—such as the State, Justice, Defense, Treasury and Commerce Departments and the Central Intelligence Agency — which may impose security classifications through subordinates delegated by the agency heads.

Brownell said those authorized to classify information will be working with much more precise guides than was the case under the Truman order.

* * *

BROWNELL TOLD newsmen he recommended abandoning the "restricted" label because some government officials had used it "when they didn't have any reason to classify (information) but wanted to keep it from the public."

Brownell was asked whether abolition of the "restricted" category wouldn't lead to moving information up a notch to the "confidential" category.

He said the definitions of "top secret," "secret" and "confidential" are explicit enough to prevent that.

Rioting In Trieste Is Savage

U.S., British Troops Restore Order

TRIESTE (AP)—Savage rioting flared again in this disputed Adriatic port city. Police fired into the ranks of thousands of pro-Italian demonstrators and the death toll in two days of bloody clashes mounted to eight, with six slain Friday.

British and American troops with fixed bayonets marched into the trouble area and restored order.

At least 60 persons, mostly students, were in hospitals with police-inflicted bullet wounds. The British-trained territorial police suffered injuries when a hand grenade was tossed in their midst from a milling mob of at least 10,000. Three or more police were wounded. Unconfirmed reports said one or more had died.

* * *

IT WAS THE first time American troops had been called in to help quell the bitter demonstrations. British and American forces, which occupy this city, have previously been posted merely as guards around buildings where their personnel were working.

* * *

THE TRIESTE riots were followed by similar outbreaks in other Italian cities—notably industrial Milan and Rome.

In the Italian capital, thousands of demonstrating students began mildly, then their emotions whipped up, stoned the British consulate in famous Piazza de Spagna in downtown Rome.

As U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce was conferring in Rome with Italian Premier Giuseppe Pella, one throng of demonstrators massed around the U.S. embassy in Via Veneto and shouted "assassins, assassins."

* * *

TRIESTE WAS tight in the grip of a general strike protesting the incidents.

Italian newspapers bitterly blamed British Gen. Sir John Winterton for the order to fire which turned the flag-waving and later stone-hurling demonstration in Trieste into a national crisis.

British and Americans announced on Oct. 8 that they intended to turn over administration of Zone A of the Trieste territory, including the city, to the Italians. Yugoslavia declared it stroops would march into Zone A the moment Italian military forces were sent in.

State Department Takes Serious View

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said it takes "a most serious view" of the bloody riots and demonstrations in Trieste.

It attributed the rioting in the disputed Adriatic port to "irresponsible elements in Trieste."

Storm Blocks Highway; More Snow Predicted

Driving Conditions Hazardous, State Safety Patrol Reports

Snow and sleet driven by high winds had blocked at least one highway in western Nebraska and more snow mixed with some rain was predicted for Saturday.

The storm area extended from north-central Kansas through North Platte and Imperial to Sidney and the eastern edge of the Panhandle.

It was still snowing lightly at North Platte at noon Friday, the Weather Station there reported. There were three and a half inches on the ground at North Platte and four inches at McCook and Holdrege.

It was snowing in Grand Island.

The McCook - Holdrege and North Platte-Lexington football games were cancelled because of the snow-covered gridirons.

* * *

UNITED AIR LINES in Lincoln reported that the snow had stopped all flights in and out of Cheyenne, Wyo., and planes through Denver were about two hours late.

The Burlington railroad said no trains had been delayed because of the storm.

The North Platte weather station had no definite information on road conditions west but apparently the road was still open at noon.

The Nebraska Safety Patrol reported at 9 a.m. Friday that roads were packed with snow and ice in the McCook-Grand Island area, making road conditions hazardous. A report received by patrol headquarters in Lincoln Friday indicated that in the North Platte area the roads were packed with snow and ice but still open.

* * *

JOHN McMEEKIN, state maintenance engineer, reported that snow plows went into action early Friday when drifts from three to five feet high blocked U.S. Highway 6 at Wauneta. According to McMeekin, motorists driving west hit ice about halfway between Kearney and Grand Island. From there on, roads ranged from slushy to heavily snow-covered.

The Highway Patrol gave this rundown of conditions:

McCook: Moderate wind, snowing.

Holdrege: Moderate wind, snowing; visibility fair; packed snow and ice make highways hazardous.

Lexington: Snow and blowing snow; highways covered with packed snow and ice.

Grand Island to Kearney: Moderate snow; highways slick and hazardous.

North Platte: Snowing, poor visibility; highways packed with snow and ice and hazardous.

Bus lines reported that an overpass at Maxwell on Highway 30 was blocked temporarily Friday. Buses were running 30 minutes to an hour behind schedule.

The snow had let up in the extreme western areas Friday morning, but central Nebraska was still receiving heavy snow, the Weather Bureau said.

Forecasters explained that strong, cold southeasterly winds in the western half of the central plain states had associated with a low pressure trough along the east slope of the Rockies to cause the storm.

The storm center had spread out to give southwest Kansas and western South Dakota freezing rain and the balance of Kansas light snow. And it was moving slowly eastward.

The outlook is for snow Friday night and Saturday in the central portion of the state, locally mixed with some rain or sleet. Temperatures generally were expected to remain unchanged. Central and western Nebraska were due for a total snow accumulation of up to six inches.

The long-range forecast, however, indicated that the next five days will find Nebraska again short on moisture. Precipitation is expected to average .20 of an inch.

Precipitation reported by the Weather Bureau for the 24 hours ending at 12:30 p.m.:

Reds Charge U.S. War Plot

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia's Andrei Vishinsky charged that American foreign policy is based on force and aimed at unleashing a new world war.

His slashing attack on the United States coincided with similar statements made in Moscow at celebrations of the 36th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution and appeared to be part of a resumed tough, Stalin-type Russian attitude.

Vishinsky said President Eisenhower and Defense Secretary Wilson had both stressed that the United States was increasing its armed forces and said this was all part of an anti-Soviet plot.

Vishinsky's tirade followed a charge by Britain that Russia was not interested in solving world problems through negotiations but only wanted to use international conferences for propaganda.

Secret Sessions Scored

Governor Speaks To Journalists

Gov. Robert Crosby criticized executive sessions of public policy making bodies, warning against the "compromise with a principle" that is both a reason for and often a result of secret sessions, in an address to some 600 high school journalists at their opening state convention session.

He encouraged the high school journalists to vote and "stand right up and fight forces attempting to limit freedom of press."

The governor described his attitude toward the press and added: "If all of us in public life were completely honest, we would admit that when we want to hold executive sessions of a policy making body, we want to compromise to some extent with a principle."

* * *

REPEATING a phrase advanced by another state governor in Seattle this year, "All of us must bend a little, lest we break," Gov. Crosby added his own interpretation:

"Sometimes we must compromise a little with a principle, lest we not get re-elected; some of us must be less than completely honest in our political thinking, lest our political party go down in defeat."

The chief executive said such an attitude "falls way short of my idea of public service."

He credited the white spotlight of publicity with being a "great pressure for honesty among public officials."

In his criticism of executive meetings, the governor spoke of the Legislature's practice of withholding votes in committee from the press.

THE OPENING session of the Nebraska High School Press Association convention was attended by 608 delegates who had registered for the two-day meeting.

During the session five outstanding students in the University of Nebraska School of Journalism were awarded gold keys by Dr. William F. Swindler, director of the school. Recipients of the keys, which are offered jointly by The Lincoln Journal and Star, are all sophomores with journalism majors in the College of Arts and Sciences. They are:

Mary Ann Hansen of Sioux City, Ia.; Cynthia Henderson of Lincoln; Phyllis Herschberger of Superior; Marilyn Lee Mitchell of Omaha and Kathleen Nosky of North Platte.

After the session, the students were to participate in competitive contests and attend convention clinics and panels and an evening banquet and party.

Hope for 8 Trapped Men Is Abandoned

BONANZA, Utah (AP)—All hope for eight miners trapped in the fume-filler and burning shaft of the Bonanza No. 1 gilsonite mine was abandoned, but rescue teams fought stubbornly to put out the fire and reach the missing men.

It may be three days, however, before the miners are found.

Two rescue workers, riding in dragline buckets down the glassy-smooth and treacherous walls of the shaft, reached the 300-foot level but were turned back by a jumble of timber and debris.

For a time it had been hoped that five of the missing men were alive at the 300-foot level but the sounds that had fostered that belief were later attributed to falling timbers.

"There's no chance those men are alive," said Sheriff Herb Snyder of Vernal, Utah. "If they weren't killed by the blast or the fire, the fumes from the burning gilsonite probably got them."

Gilsonite is a rare hydrocarbon substance found only at Bonanza and used in the manufacture of battery cases and as a base for paints and varnish. It is extremely explosive in powdered form.

Need to Draft Boys 18 Is Not Indicated

WASHINGTON (AP)—No need to draft men under 19 in most states is indicated before next July unless draft calls skyrocket, an Associated Press survey showed. The minimum draft age is 18½.

The survey of state selective service directors also found that a relative handful of men under 19 have been drafted since conscription was resumed shortly after the Korean War started in mid-1950. This does not count volunteers.

At least 13 states, New York City and the District of Columbia have drafted none or only a few men under 20 in recent months, according to the survey. Kentucky and Alabama haven't drafted any under 20 since World War II.

An earlier survey showed that 41 states dipped into the 19-year-old group to fill last April's draft calls. Since July the calls have dropped to 23,000 each month, allowing a lot of these states to slip back into drafting only 20-year-olds.

January Draft Call 23,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has issued a draft call for 23,000 men in January.

This is the same quota that has been in effect since last July although there has been much talk in recent weeks of a stepped-up draft call in 1954.

Dr. Arthur Flemming, director of defense mobilization, said in an address only Thursday that the monthly draft call might rise to 40,000 to 50,000 by January or February and go as high as 60,000 by July.

Secretary of Defense Wilson recently said that his assistants were working on a long-range program to even off the monthly draft, avoiding peaks and low points.

The 23,000 call for January, officials said, indicates that the Pentagon is not yet ready to launch into its long-range draft schedule.

Contracts on Watershed to Be Let Soon

Bids for the first construction work on a pilot watershed project in the Salt-Wahoo Watershed have been opened with the letting of contracts scheduled to come Monday.

Apparent low bidder on a detention dam near Roca was the Peterson-Wilkie Construction Company of Syracuse. The low bid was $5,607.05.

The structure, which will contain 25,580 cubic yards of earth, will be located on the Jerry Kubik farm a mile and a half east and three-fourths of a mile south of Roca. The dam will be constructed of rolled earth and will include an overflow outlet through it.

The contract also calls for excavating an auxiliary spillway and for fencing the dam and spillway sites.

Work was expected to start shortly after Dec. 1.

Of the 10 firms submitting bids, the second low was Jerry Camp of Beatrice, $6,829.85; and third, Boeve Construction Company of Sterling, $6,844.15.

Nebraska's Sigma Chi Frat Placed on Social Probation

The University of Nebraska chapter of Sigma Chi Fraternity has been placed on social probation for the remainder of the school year, J. P. Colbert, dean of student affairs, announced.

While on social probation Sigma Chi will not be allowed to have fraternity social events, although its members may participate in university events.

Probation resulted from a complaint filed by Ferris W. Norris, professor of Electrical Engineering, charging five Sigma Chi pledges with interrupting his class.

The pledges, who, in connection with their annual sneak, abducted Sigma Chi active Dan Rasdal from one of Norris' classes, were: John Carper of Murray; John Sears of Colby, Kan.; Dwayne Burhans and Dick Johnston of Omaha, and Jack Moore of Mt. Vernon, Ia.

Special action is not being taken against the five individuals. Dean Colbert explained that the entire fraternity is being disciplined because the pledges' actions represented the fraternity.

He added that the university now considers the matter closed.

Italians Find Two Americans In Absentia Guilty of Murder

NOVARA, Italy (AP)—The Novara court has convicted two Americans for the wartime, behind-the-lines slaying of U.S. Maj. William Holohan of New York City. They were tried in absentia.

The court acquitted three Italian co-defendants.

Judge Francesco Sicher sensentenced ex-Lt. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh to life imprisonment. He sentenced former Sgt. Carl Lo Dolce of Rochester, N.Y., to 17 years in prison.

Since U.S. courts declined to extradite them, they cannot be forced to return to Italy to serve the sentences.

Witnesses and attorneys laid most of the blame for the killing on Icardi although Lo Dolce was accused of actually firing the shots which killed Holohan after an attempt to poison him failed. His body later was sunk in a lake in northern Italy and recovered after the war.

In Pittsburgh, attorneys issued this statement for Icardi:

"Another unfair and ridiculous trial has resulted in an unfair and ridiculous verdict. It comes as no surprise. It was obvious from the very beginning that the entire effort was to place the blame on the Americans, particularly Mr. Icardi, because he was the ranking American espionage officer.

Holohan, chief of a U.S. intelligence mission, was murdered behind enemy lines in North Italy on Dec. 6, 1944. Icardi was accused of planning the killing and Lo Dolce of firing two fatal shots into the major's head. The body was recovered from Lake Orta in June, 1950.

Two-House Bipartisan Plan Filed

2 of Committee Display Petitions

With legal requirements satisfied, the campaign to take the Nebraska Legislature back to the old two-house partisan plan has been launched.

Copies of the proposed initiative petitions were formally filed with the secretary of state by Dave Martin of Kearney and William Meier of Minden. This is required by law.

Although Martin is state chairman for the Republicans and Meier for the Democrats, this action was taken as members of the bipartisan committee which is seeking the change.

Also filed was an affidavit carrying the names of the sponsors in the counties.

The two men said the petition forms will be sent out within the next few days so the sponsors can pass them around in their counties. A total of 59,572 valid signatures must be obtained to get the matter on the general election ballot in 1954.

EACH FORM has room for 20 signatures and must be notarized. Circulators of the petitions must be at least 21 years of age and may only secure the signatures of voters who reside in their county.

The sponsors seek to return Nebraska to the partisan bicameral system the state had before 1937.

The present one-house non-partisan Legislature would be changed by the 1957 session if the drive is successful.

The Senate would have a limit of 40 members and the House of Representatives between 80 and 100 under the proposal. Senators would be elected for four years and representatives for two. Members would be paid $20 a day for every day they actually attended. But a ceiling of $1,500 per member would be placed on the session.

MARTIN SAID that the Republican Party has approved the move so that regular party facilities may be used.

The Democrats approved the action by the bipartisan committee but did not make it a party program plank.

Meier remarked, however, that state headquarters is at "my desk" so there wouldn't be any problem there.

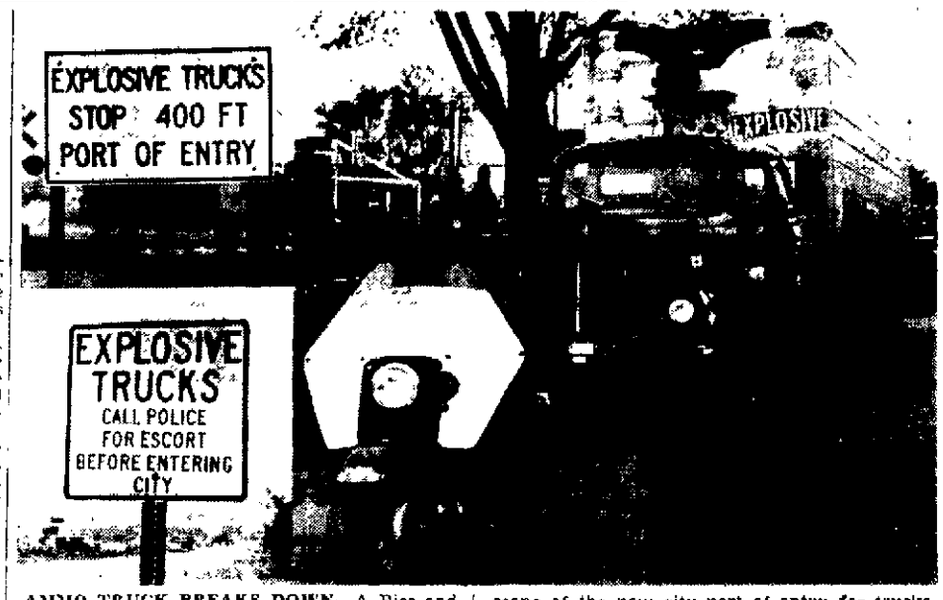

Among the 165 persons listed as county sponsors are the following:

Republicans

Leslie Boslaugh, Hastings (Adams).
Mrs. Arthur Bowring, Merriman (Cherry).
Kermit Wagner, Schuyler (Colfax).
William Thomas, Omaha (Douglas).
Don Pierce, Alliance (Box Butte).
Joe Bixby, Geneva (Fillmore).
Joe Thye, Kearney (Buffalo).
N. G. Bender, Sutton (Clay).

AMMO TRUCK BREAKS DOWN—A Riss and Company ammunition truck one of the first to arrive at the new ports of entry set up by Lincoln's city council burned a wheel bearing on highway 34 near the Cotner and O port and was delayed four hours while repairs were made. Driver Samuel Edwards, 26, of Thomasville, N. C. said he saw the left rear wheel on his trailer wobbling just as he came over the hill on O Street. He stopped at Cotner and O, scene of the new city port of entry for trucks carrying explosives. After repairs had been made Motorcycle Officer Mel Green escorted the truck north on Cotner to the highway. Also shown are the new signs that greet truck drivers as they approach Lincoln. The first sign (upper, left) is a 400-foot warning signal. The second is the port of entry sign. (Journal Photos.)

Overload Cause Of $340 Fine

A fine of $340, heaviest yet levied in Lancaster County under the new truck overload laws, has been assessed against Ernest E. Long of 4809 Bancroft in Municipal Court.

Judge John Jacobson was told Long was driving a truck loaded with wall board for the Broome Dry Wall Company and the load was 6,100 pounds or 34 per cent over the 18,000 pound axle allowance.

Long, who pleaded not guilty, explained that an axle load equalizer had sprung during his trip from Ft Dodge, Ia., throwing the extra weight on one axle. Judge Jacobson charged Long $10 for each per cent overload. The Broome Company paid the fine.

Schools Plan Special Education Week Programs

Through a school visitation and educational interpretation program, the Lincoln schools will attempt to acquaint parents and patrons with the city educational system in observance of American Education Week, Nov. 8 to 16.

Sponsored by the Lincoln Teachers Association, each of the city's 24 schools has planned special programs.

In proclaiming American Education week, Mayor Clark Jeary said, "It is fitting that the city recognize the plans of the Lincoln Teachers Association and that American Education Week , be designated as a time for special programs and the holding of ceremonies which will be designed to impress firmly in our minds the true significance of the American way of living and the true meaning of our form of government."

* * *

ACTIVITIES will include several educational programs on Lincoln radio and television stations and patrons of the public schools are invited to visit the school of their choice. Displays will be placed in many downtown and suburban store windows depicting various phases of education.

Downtown shoppers will be able to observe an actual classroom situation on Tuesday when Mrs. Evelyn Carlson and her second grade class from Elliott School, will have their afternoon session in Hardy's store window from 1 to 3 p.m. On the following afternoon, Mrs. Florence Ramsey from Sheridan School will have her third grade pupils in the same window for a classroom demonstration.

The educational theme for the week is: "Good Schools Are Your Responsibility."

In PURSUIT of HAPPINESS
By J. GORDON ROBERTS

The Educational Reviewer offers the following letter from a student:

Tuesday evening
April, 1953

"Dear Mother,

"I certainly doubt that I will ever get a teacher's license if I stay here. I do not agree with everything the professor says, and I feel we are judged on what we believe rather than on facts. Our big tests are the essay type and when returned have only check marks at the top indicating our grade. There are no other marks on the paper explaining exactly what was wrong with the answer.

"You can't imagine how horrible it is to sit through one of those classes after all I have read, knowing that we are receiving one-sided propaganda, not facts. Today he read all of the McCall article and insisted we put down Mrs. Grain's name and Zoll's (both discredited—guilt by association?) in our notebooks. He read the entire article sneering at these people.

"I finally asked at the end how we were to know that the article was not just propaganda. The answer, 'It was written by reliable men', and the subject was changed with no further discussion. Every day he reads two or three articles from N.E.A. and Z.E.A., etc. He has enough magazines to last a term. There are only a few students who agree with me; the rest are thoroughly 'indoctrinated'.

"One student in the class asked what would happen to children who had a very progressive teacher in the fourth grade and then went to a fifth grade class which had a traditional teacher. The answer: 'The principal would talk to the teachers so they would not be too extreme in their methods of teaching and the children would then not be confused'. The question of the grading system also came up.

"We were told that the problem now is to educate the parents so that they will want a grading system of satisfactory or unsatisfactory, for they are the only ones opposing this idea. The teachers and students want it.

"The purpose of this letter, however, is to ask you to send me posthaste all of your information, the 8th California Report, and anything you have on McCalls', Progressive Education, N.E.A., etc. I am going to insist he give the other side to the class. I will certainly be on his black list then, but a college is supposed to present facts and allow free discussion. I shall enclose with each letter some of the things he hands out for us to do. Most will have to be copied.

"Right now we are all required to read the 'glorious' Kilpatrick's book, Education in a Changing Democracy. I shall also type some quotes from our textbook. I wish you could read it, but I will bring it home this summer. It is so discouraging. As I listen to this class, I lose all hope of our ever accomplishing anything through young teachers . . .

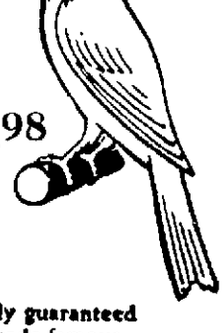

"Fulton Lewis Jr. has been ridiculed and put on the black list, also. Plea e send the materials at once."

This column runs Monday through Friday.

Thimayya Warns Reds to Speed Up Dragging POW Interviews

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Indian chief of the war prisoner commission indirectly—but pointedly—warned the Communists to speed up their dragging interviews with anti-Red POWs or "I may have to throw up my hands."

The warning by Lt Gen K S Thimayya came as the Reds appeared ready to call the whole program quits

Thimayya indicated he might use Indian troops to conduct the interviews if the present tottering procedure breaks down

He spoke only a few hours after a last-minute Communist demand resulted in cancellation of the day's scheduled explanations

THIMAYYA HELD a news conference just after returning from the camp holding 22 Americans and 1 Briton who have not returned home

He said the 23 held 2 Indian officers prisoners 4 hours and 15 minutes to compel the commission to visit them and hear complaints

Thimayya said the officers were not harmed

The full commission visited the north camp where the prisoners were held Thimayya said the prisoners handed them a long typewritten protest against "violation by the UN command and the custodian force India"

THE GENERAL said the prisoners particularly wanted the commission to censor their mail to eliminate Allied propaganda designed to 'intimidate, slander, coerce and bribe' them

"I asked them what we should do in the case of a letter from a man's wife who wrote 'Oh, darling, please come home to me' and they seemed a little unclear on that point,' said Thimayya

He said the commission may work out an arrangement so officers read off names and addresses and let the prisoners pick out the letters they want

The prisoners complained that they have received many "stereotyped letters" from people they do not know

'A Nation of Shelled Peas'

A. C. Huber in York Daily News-Times

There was a time when you could tell a "city dude" from a "country Jake".

Or a Yankee from a Rebel, or a banker from a bricklayer.

But in this age any one is apt to be driving a "Cad".

Americans have grown quite uniform in the food they eat, the clothes on their backs, the beverage consumed, the cars they drive —the houses they live in.

Home building is done on a mass scale often refered to as "assembly line" construction. Jesting observers comment they would hate to come home late to some new "assembly line" abode. They might get into the wrong hut.

America once gave birth to a breed known as moguls. These were the Vanderbilts and Rockefellers, Carnegie, Gould, Cooke, Morgan, Ford and others. The age of the pretentious personage is a thing of the past. A variety of taxes have been designed to trim each down to size. The man who does the work has approximately the same income as the one who does the worrying.

This is the age of the great middle class.

* * *

There was a time when some school children went only to the fifth grade, when some walked, some went on horseback and others were accompanied by nurse maids. Today more and more children are using the bus supplied by the benevolence of the school district. State law takes care of the brat who wants to quit school at an early age. Children must attend school until they are 16.

Once there were many motor car manufacturers. Now half a dozen large concerns handle all of our motor car transportation. There was a time when you could tell an Essex from a Pierce Arrow because the Essex had an angular radiator top and the Pierce had lights on the fenders. Now all cars have lights on the fenders and radiators are hidden under streamlined hoods.

There was a time when city folks lived in the cities and country folks in the country. Now the city folks are moving to the country and the country folk spend most of the time in town. So many city folks own farms in York county that a farmer can't find one to buy.

Such things as electric irons, washing machines, refrigerators, deep freezers, and toasters once were a luxury. Today every housewife "must" have these aids to housework. They are as fundamental as the installment plan to a successful married life.

Most everybody has the same income. The man in the $10,000 class merely has an opportunity of paying more taxes than the one in the $3,600 a year bracket. Each, no doubt, will end up with a television set.

* * *

Once there were golden tongued orators. Now there are few outstanding orators but many mediocre speakers who know all of the rules of the platform but haven't anything to say.

Even our political parties have the same policy. Democrats and Republicans are advocating farm supports, pegged prices, conservation, flood control, rural electricity, national defense, United Nations.

Things are cozy for Americans.

Things are so good that many today are living in fear of an upset. Everyone is looking to government to control the weather and insure against starvation in old age. There are few measuring sticks of worthiness. The fact that one is alive and not dead entitles him to share everything regardless of whether he ever made a contribution or not to society or the state.

* * *

The essence of this age is to make each of us round, plump and statistical. Even the rural mailboxes have lost their individuality. Generally viewed, looking at the American population is like opening a can of shelled peas. The measurements of the contents are all alike.

A MOMENT'S THOUGHT

I John 5: 13

These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God.

—Selected by Rev. Leslie E. Thomas, Temple Baptist Church

Tragi-Comedy at Panmunjom

In all history there has never before been recorded a phenomenon so grotesque, so impossible to prefigure, so devastatingly ridiculous and wildly illogical as the humiliation daily heaped upon the befogged Communists by their own fighting men, so happily escaped into captivity. For hours and days the wretched "explainers" recite their carefully confected word-pictures through which they hope to reclaim some men for the Red fold. For 15 days the prisoners refused to see these men, and even after being reassured by India's Gen. Thimayya that they had nothing to fear, some balked when actually confronted by questioners.

Kicking, screaming and cursing made up the early procedure, but presently the prisoners began talking back, even talking first, to Red questioners who probably hadn't heard as much out of a Russian or Chinese in all the years as they have to listen to now, for hours at a time. The inquisitors had to go on, they dared not quit, and now they themselves are prisoners of a sort, taking far more punishment than they are inflicting.

After their biggest day, when they assaulted the cardrums and took the abuse of 459 men, and got 21 to say they would go home, they tried a new prefext in deadlock the procedure: They accused the Indian observers of double dealing and demanded the right to broadcast to the PW's before each day's questioning.

"Ho hum!" said Gen. Thimayya, in effect. "Go ahead." Well he knew this would get them strictly nowhere.

Fog Sets the Fashion

The brutal London fog, inescapable in a city built on a swamp, is today so thick with soot and ash that memories turn to a dreadful week of smog ten months ago in which 4,000 died. The 6,000 doctors of the local committee, politely enraged by the lack of any effective response from official quarters to the "national disaster" of the first pea soup fog of the season, are urging citizens to fold sixpence worth of gauze into six thicknesses, tie it over the nose and mouth to protect the lungs. These would catch most of the soot, while moisture from the wearer's breath would be some protection against airborne chemicals.

Credit is given the milliners who quickly dreamed up chic "smoggles" in tulle, velvet and chiffon. A brave man aged 24 wore a complete mask for 15 minutes, then couldn't bear feeling so silly because nobody else had one on.

Secretary Benson Keeps Things Lively

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has blossomed out suddenly — and most unexpectedly — into our most exciting Washington figure, a sparkling contrast to the otherwise rather dull and tame background of our first "business administration" since Herbert Hoover was president.

Stokes

It really isn't Mr. Benson's fault. It is not by nature or by choice. Seemingly he's been forced into it. The enemies he has raised up so quickly about him have made him what he is today, transforming into a veritable mountain lion an unusually mild-mannered, methodical, dignified gentleman who might, indeed, have stepped down out of a woodcut of the sedate Hoover administration when he first appeared in the cabinet.

To find a mate for what Secretary Benson has become today, however, you have to come a bit closer to our time, to that mad, hilarious, and also very earnest collection of characters that created sound, fury, and lots of effective motion during the heyday of the Roosevelt New Deal and then pick out the most explosive and controversial of the lot—"the old curmudgeon," the late Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, sometimes called "Honest Harold."

It must be said that temperamentally Ezra Benson is really no more like Harold Ickes than is your Aunt Lizzie, except for one quality that has come out. That is rough and ready language in a fight and Mr. Benson, like his predecessor of the Roosevelt-Truman eras, is in a fight, and knows it.

Smart Under Tongue-Lashing

So, when he hears that a "caravan" of cattlemen is starting out and heading this way to take out after him, he calls them "rabble-rousers" and "demagogues." That made quite an impression. For you could see them still smart from the secretary's tongue-lashing when they got here. This came out as one after another of their number got up in meeting here, with Secretary Benson on the front row listening, and told of their troubles. One of them explained that he was neither a "rabble-rouser" nor a "ribald-rouser," the last a bon mot more typical of the pseudo-clever of our national capital than of a horny-handed drover.

Then, when the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts protested loudly about the reorganization of the Soil Conservation Service and demanded that it be rescinded or modified, what does our belligerent and stubborn secretary do but promptly order it into effect, and blast the organization's leaders who, he declared, "have spread doubt, misrepresentation and actual falsehoods" about his plan of reorganization.

Pure Ickes — up to the last two words, for which the late old curmudgeon probably would have substituted simply "lies," with perhaps a sizzling adjective or so in front. But, when you come to think of it, the Benson version is rather stout and plain talk from a cabinet member in the Eisenhower administration. The Soil Conservation association answered back, saying in effect "you're another" and so we are off again.

Southern Governors Scream

Having set off this explosion, our secretary of agriculture took time out to go to Hot Springs, Virginia, and talk to the southern governors there in conference assembled. He left his adjectives behind, and was altogether cool, calm and collected. But never, in polite language, did a federal official so cruelly puncture a myth perpetuated among southern governors, as well as others. Speaking of the administration's ideas for a new farm program for the next Congress's consideration, he said it would recognize "the need for greater state and local participation." He added:

"But as the federal government moves out of areas of activity, the states must be prepared to move in and assume a larger role. This will mean new responsibilities for you and your associates in state governments. If you have a problem, you will need to take action, rely upon your own resources."

You could almost hear the screams that went up back here in the national capital. They were synthesized in the comment of Gov. Johnston Murray of Oklahoma:

"The trouble is in our state we don't have that kind of money!"

It all demonstrated once again that "state rights" is something for politicians to shout about from the stump to get elected, and nothing to be practiced seriously after they get in office. You can hear no more flamboyant oratory on this subject, nor less practice, than from these same southern governors. And year after year their states get more out of the federal treasury for what they put in than any group of states.'

Of course they can't finance farm programs on the federal scale to which our farmers have become accustomed, nor can the states pay for many other things our people need. The moral ought to be plain —quit talking about state rights unless you can practice it. But we don't expect to see that happen.

As for Secretary Benson—all of his recent provocative actions and remarks are not either politic or good politics. Republican politicians shiver at the spectacle. They nervously pick up their newspapers every morning to see whom the secretary has libeled now. But he certainly keeps things lively.

"They said this would happen when the government cut taxes!"

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL

— A Chat with the EDITOR —

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—Following are excerpts from a speech prepared for delivery by the editor of The Lincoln Journal at the annual banquet of the Soil Conservation Society of America, on the subject, "Requirements of Local-State-Federal Partnership in Conservation":

I am an unrelenting optimist. Although we failed to stop the Soil Conservation Service reorganization plan, it may yet prove that we achieved a measure of success in failure. For in his very order initiating the plan which six days previously he had said would be deferred for several weeks, the secretary put onto the record more enthusiastic words about watershed development than—so far as I know —he had ever said before.

New Era of Action

Some deeds now, in reorganizing the reorganization, so as to put a federal-state-local partnership really in motion, thoroughly, efficiently and for the whole public to see, would help considerably . . .

Where do we go from here?

* * *

Partnership requires mutual understanding and confidence all around. It requires also a clear division of functions and responsibilities among the several partners, and a close co-ordination, horizontal and vertical.

* * *

We have lost some ground and gained some. If we are to continue to gain, there must be not only a reorganization of the reorganization, but also:

1. A continuing education of the public— of both city and farm people—as to their interdependence in mastering the forces of nature and putting them to proper use. Specifically I would like to see us as a nation get as much value as possible out of the investment Congress is making in the demonstrational watershed program. The returns from that investment could be many times multiplied, for example, if some private foundation were to join in the venture so that there could be, alongside the publicly-financed pilot plant projects, a non-governmental "umpire" of a sort, measuring their effect in every possible way and sponsoring the widest possible dissemination of unbiased information about it.

2. A full and realistic facing up to their responsibilities by the laggard states so that adequate watershed districts can be organized in every river valley in the country where people want them.

A prompt and comprehensive study of this whole field by the Council of State Governments or by the new Hoover Commission, or both, would be a great spur to intelligent state action.

3. Realistic budgeting by the administration and Congress so that the pilot plant program can be speeded along to completion, and so that also a proper balance can be established as between upstream conservation and other river resources improvement. The $5.1 million this year just barely tips the scales but is only a beginning toward balancing them.

3. Early enactment of the Hope-Carlson bill as a basis for translating the pilot plant program into permanent policy when its effects are known, and so as to spell out the Department of Agriculture's responsibilities in this field. With this there should also be some clear delineation of the responsibilities of the Army and Department of the Interior, and a clarification of conservation responsibility as to the various categories of public lands.

5. The establishment of mechanisms by which the planning and actions of all federal agencies engaged in resources development can be kept in gear with each other and in keeping with the overall objectives of the President.

If we are not to have valley authorities of the TVA type, and I personally do not think we want or need any more, then there needs to be a way by which the authority already vested in the President—adequate in itself —can keep in intimate touch with all the many specific day to day actions of the many federal agencies which add up to the total federal performance in conservation, and in close touch also with local area thinking and needs.

A representative advisory commission or board of review closely attuned to local and area watershed problems, and neutral as among federal agencies, with a director having the status of presidential assistant and charged with co-ordinating conservation in the executive branch, is one possible means by which this new administration could establish the essential liaison which has been lacking in the past. There may be other ways.

* * *

If 1953 is to be the opening of still anginning of a new era of conservation. He spoke of it as a "time for the country to take account of its natural resources and to inquire how long they are likely to last."

In 1953 is to be the opening of still another "new era" in conservation that will be a new era demanding, not inquiry, but action, and action in partnership.

Friends of Unicameral

BAYARD—In a recent issue of a Denver paper a columnist came out squarely in favor of preserving Nebraska's world-famed unicameral Legislature.

It is time, I think that some Nebraska voice was raised in the same good cause. Somehow I have the feeling that this whole movement . . . the swift smooth promotion of the six constitutional amendments just before election last fall, with the bland assumption that the people of Nebraska were clamoring for a new constitutional convention . . . though no such movement actually existed . . . the insistence on a 100 rather than a 43 man constitutional convention . . . a move not calculated to strengthen grass-roots influence . . . these and the current agitation for return to a two-house legislature with a bipartisan election of lawmakers, put all these together and take a good look at them and they add up to a pretty clear picture, that there must be something pretty efficient and honest about the present unicameral setup, or many of the "Fat Boys" would not be against it.

For, while I am at the moment a little uncertain as to who the best friends of the unicameral Legislature are, I have a hunch that the movements outlined above are not isolated, but are all parts of a well thought out plan on the part of the special interests in Nebraska to get innocent John Q. Public, his wife and children to vote themselves out of a pretty safe setup and back into their tender clutches.

No doubt the Unicameral has its faults, but you may recall that the old two-house legislature was a lobbyists' and buck-passers' paradise. Whatever you can say about the Unicameral, it has the right enemies.

True Sportsmanship

MURDOCK — Verne Gagne, U.S. heavyweight wrestling champion, refused to be claimed winner over Pat O'Connor Tuesday night when O'Connor was accidentally thrown into the corner.

Each wrestler had won a fall —Gagne won the first with "the sleeper." O'Connor won the second with the "airplane spin." It was a good clean match all the way through.

O'Connor's shoulder was hurt, but he would not give up. Gagne saw that O'Connor was not fit to continue, so refused to fight him. The referee then declared O'Connor unable to continue and held up Gagne's arm as the winner. Gagne jerked it down and said he would not accept the match, but would give O'Connor a rematch. O'Connor is a top contender for the title, so by not accepting this as a win, Gagne has another chance of losing his title.

This feat of Gagne's should be regarded highly. He not only has talent, but an unbeatable sportsmanship. He should truly be recognized as an outstanding figure in the wrestling world.

Background of the News

The World's Worst Brats

By WILLIAM McGAFFIN
Lincoln Journal - Chicago Daily News

NEW YORK — The world's worst brats live in New York.

That's why my wife and I are counting the days until we can leave this terrible town. It's no place to bring up children.

McGaffin

We have found that other newly arrived families agree with us. Especially those who know how much better behaved the children are in England.

An English family lives next door to us in Forest Hills, one of the residential areas of greater New York.

"I will be ashamed to take Susan back to England, she has become such a little beast since she started playing with the American children around here," said Mrs. W.

The W's, like the McGaffins, are paying $140 a month for an unfurnished two-bedroom duplex. You would think this would insure you of a neighborhood of nice people. In these inflationary days, however, you apparently have to take an hour's ride from New York on a commuter's train and pay a minimum of $250 a month to get out where the nice folks live.

Most of the children in our neighborhood are little savages and, since we can't prevent our children from playing with them, ours are becoming contaminated with the same rude, impudent, undisciplined ways.

Mr. T., an American correspondent at the United Nations who came here from the Far East, told me the other day, "I don't know why I ever wanted to come to New York. I've got a house in Pennsylvania and if I could afford it, I would send the family there to live and commute weekends."

* * *

MR. T. LIVES not far from us in Forest Hills.

But apparently the children are just as vicious up north of the Bronx, for Mr. B., an American official at the U.N. who lives up there, confided, "My child is only 14 months old, thank heavens. I'm getting out before he's old enough to come in contact with the neighbor children." Mr. T. and Mr. B., incidentally, both came from Ohio originally.

Mr. M., another U.N. correspondent, comes from California. His wife is a beautiful Irish girl. They lived in Rome, Italy, before they moved here. They are paying $125 a month for their unfurnished apartment in Forest Hills. Their two children, aged four and three, are picking up such foul language in the community playground Mr. and Mrs. M., are desperately seeking some way to escape. If they could afford it, Mr. M. would send his wife and children to his native San Francisco where he knows the children do not behave like these little animals in New York.

* * *

THE OTHER DAY Mrs. M. and a lovely Chinese neighbor woman were shopping in their local supermarket. Mrs. M's two children and the Chinese lady's child were playing ring around the rosy on the sidewalk in front of the market. The mothers suddenly noticed that passers-by were stopping and listening with amazed expressions on their faces at whatever it was the little tots were saying as they played their game. So they went out to listen themselves. "Blank, blank-blank, blank, blank-blank", the kiddies were chanting as they pranced around the rosy. They had picked up the obscene words on the apartment house playground—where, incidentally, a 10-year-old boy pulled out a jack knife and flashed it in an argument the other day.

* * *

AN INDIAN DELEGATE I know at the U.N. sympathized with me recently when I complained of our neighborhood children. "Some of these American children are little horrors," he commented. "I've seen them in their own homes and I don't think they've ever been spanked."

There are a lot of kids in our neighborhood who could do with a good tanning. The kids, for instance, who woke our seven months' old baby by rollerskating past his buggy as he slept in our little yard. When my wife asked them to please go away they did so only long enough to gather together the rest of their rollerskating gang. Then they returned to taunt my wife and torment our baby by thundering up and down past his buggy, and the five-year-old boy who took the baby's rattle as he lay in his buggy and who, when my wife told him to please go away, kicked the buggy and sassed my wife. And the kids who keep opening our garage door and scratching our new car as they clambed over it and then laugh and sass us when we shoo them away.

* * *

THE IMPUDENCE of these undisciplined children is contagious and it has made a noticeable change in our elder son, Christopher, who will be three in January. We have only been here a little over two months but already he has changed and grown much harder to handle. He was a different child altogether in London.

The trouble is, parents around here seem to go to the extreme of either no discipline or too much. The whole neighborhood knows when one little boy is being punished. His parents lock him in a dark closet and you can hear his frightened cries for blocks around. I have seen one neighbor woman strike her seven-year-old son in the face with her fist. Over at Mr. M.'s place some of the mothers have a favorite phrase for correcting their children: "Shuddup or I'll knock your g - - - - head off!"

That's New York, folks: And you can have it!

ROBERT S. ALLEN Reports

Debt Limit Will Have to Be Raised

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower and his fiscal advisers have come to the reluctant conclusion that there is no way out on the problem of the national debt limit.

It will definitely have to be increased next year.

Allen

That is their decision after weeks of detailed study and discussion.

As a result, the President will again put this issue up to Congress when it reconvenes in January. He will urge prompt action to relieve the government of an increasingly awkward financial situation.

Still undetermined is the extent of the raise that will be sought.

It will depend in a large measure on estimates now being compiled on potential federal income and expenditures in the next several years.

Last July, when the President, in the closing days of the session, first asked Congress to boost the debt limit, he recommended a new ceiling of $290,000,000,000—an increase of $15,000,000,000. His inner council is now divided on the amount needed.

Some are proposing only a $10,000,000,000 raise on the ground that the smaller the figure, the more likely will be congressional approval. But other advisers warn against that, contending it is begging future trouble. They hold the government's fiscal outlook is too uncertain to risk a tight debt margin; also that it would be highly embarrassing to the administration to have to ask for a second increase.

Several of these advisers are going so far as to favor seeking a $300,000,000,000 limit.

Authority for this inside information is W. Randolph Burgess, deputy to the secretary of the treasury and directly in charge of the management of the huge national debt.

The New York banker disclosed the administration's plan during a talk with a group of financial experts.

He told them that by next month the Treasury will come within $300,000,000 of exhausting the present $275,000,000,000 debt limit, and that in the next 12 months the Treasury is confronted with the immense task of refinancing more than $70,000,000,000 in expiring government securities.

"We have no alternative but to ask for an increase in the debt limit," said Burgess. "That's why the request was made last summer, but Congress wouldn't have it; so we will have to go over the old ground again. It would have been all out of the way now if the President's recommendation had been heeded months ago."

UNDER FIRE—The tax-dodging trial of California's beefy lobbyist "Artie" Samish is making sensational headlines on the West Coast.

One bombshell that rocked the San Francisco courtroom was testimony by Milton Biow, head of a big New York advertising firm, that Samish had manhandled him in the foyer of a Fifth Avenue office building. According to Biow, the hulking lobbyist became enraged because another member of the company had given information to Internal Revenue agents.

"Samish grabbed hold of me," Biow told the crowded courtroom, "pushed me against the revolving door in the foyer, shoved his arm against my throat and said, 'If I had you in an alley, I'd kill you. That little . . . in your office is trying to put me in jail.'"

The government is charging Samish evaded payment of $71,878 in income taxes for himself and his wife from 1946 to 1951. On the basis of sworn testimony so far presented, his income for those years totaled more than $800,000. His "public relations" clients included leading distillers, brewers, an international airline and big truckers' association.

U. S. Attorney Lloyd Burke is personally trying the case, his first big one since taking office last spring. Defending Samish is Harold Faulkner, leading San Francisco lawyer who was an aspirant for Burke's job.

ALL SET—Although the next American Legion convention is a year distant, the inner band of politicos known throughout the organization as "king-makers" already has decided who the next national commander will be. He is Seaborn Collins of New Mexico. Tip-off on his selection was Collins' appointment as chairman of the Legion's national security commission, a job that will keep him in the public eye and build him up for his "election" at next fall's convention. . . . Ex-President Hoover has made two important selections on his new Government Reorganization Commission. The appointments are: Adm. Ben Morell (ret), former head of Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., to be chairman of the Task Force on Power and Water Resources, and Ferdinand Eberstadt, New York banker and close friend of the late Defense Secretary James Forrestal, for head of the Task Force on Defense. Hoover first offered this job to a one-time Democratic cabinet member, but he declined. Eberstadt is author of the original plan unifying the military services. His and Morell's selection will be announced at the commission's meeting in November. . . . Aksle Nielsen, prominent Denver realtor and friend of President Eisenhower, has been quietly made the moving force in the special commission named by the President to study housing. Protests to Benson Falling Off

Most Notes Since Monday Praise Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The office of Secretary of Agriculture Benson is getting a respite from a flood of telegrams and letters that poured in on it in recent weeks either protesting or supporting his plan to reorganize the department

The flow of such communications aides said, fell off to a trickle after Benson on Monday ordered the plan into immediate effect in the face of requests of some farm groups and some congressmen that it be deferred

Before Benson took this action, hundreds of messages were received, most of them taking positions on his proposed plan to alter the department's Soil Conservation Service The principal change involved abolition of seven regional offices of the conservation service.

• • •

THIS PROPOSAL brought sharp protests from the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts It contended the reorganization plan would virtually ruin the conservation service—a contention which Benson has denied

Benson aides said it appeared the bulk of the communications received before Benson acted were inspired by groups which either opposed or favored the plan Many were identical in wording, they said

Aides said that fewer than two dozen communications have so far been received since the secretary ordered the plan into operation They said that all but about two commended Benson Some were made available to a reporter at his request

• • •

TYPICAL OF THOSE approving the action was a letter from James H Foster, farmer of near Cortland O

"I admire you for going ahead with the reorganization plan ' Foster wrote, ' even after all the hulabaloo I feel a great many farmers are glad to see the change Too many cabinet members have not gone ahead with the job of cleaning up their departments as well as you have "

Dean A M Eberle of the Division of Agriculture of South Dakota State College at Brookings writing as a "private citizen " told Benson he wished to "thank" him for standing his ground

Tax Meet Advised 'Go Slow' In Recommending Changes

Special to The Journal

BEATRICE—Maurice S Hevelone Beatrice attorney and chairman of the taxation committee of the Beatrice Chamber of Commerce told 23 representatives of southeast Nebraska towns that they must go slow in recommending changes in the state tax structure

"If we go into a program whereby we can reduce the tax load on real estate we must be careful that we do not put ourselves in the position that would enable governmental agencies to increase the per capita tax load," he said

"Many solutions call for a sales tax to replace the state property tax and off hand we might say that at face value the best solution would appear to be a sales tax that would be returned to the local level, thereby lessening the burden on real estates," he told the group

• • •

THE MAJOR problem facing Nebraska, he continued, is to reduce the unfair tax burden on real estate while retaining the low per capita tax rate

He pointed out that a recent study by the Beatrice tax committee showed that Nebraska has the lowest per capita tax of the nine-state area studied

He called the Nebraska personal tax system a farce' which should be replaced

Main business of the meeting was an election of a representative to the 14-man state study group investigating Nebraska tax problems

Frank E Wells of the Auburn Chamber of Commerce was named regional representative to the state group

E F Woodard of Hebron, a field man for the state tax commission, urged that a state real estate valuation board be established

The meeting, at the Paddock Hotel, follows an earlier statewide meeting at Grand Island and is the first of 13 regional meetings

Cities in the southeast area are

Auburn	Plymouth
Fairbury	Crete

Highway Toll In October Is 40 Dead

October traffic deaths in Nebraska numbered 40, to make it the third high month of the year thus far A breakdown showed that 14 deaths resulted from two car collisions 11 from one-car accidents and 8 from railroad crossing accidents Also included were six pedestrians and one tractor operator

Col C J Sanders Nebraska Safety Patrol, reported that October s eight railroad crossing deaths were an all time high for one month and also equalled the total for the first nine months of 1953 Co Sanders appealed to all drivers to use greater care and watchfulness when approaching railroad crossings

' The 'other fellow' has always received most of the blame for traffic accidents " Col Sanders said 'but this excuse can t be used for October s 11 one car traffic deaths ' The October total brought the year s total of one-car deaths to 86 or one-third of the 1953 total

For the second straight month county roads again claimed a large number of traffic deaths with October having 14 county road deaths The 1953 death toll on county roads is now 73

' These facts ' Col Sanders said should make it obvious that anyone might become the victim of any type of traffic death We as motor vehicle operators must realize that the traffic problem is not just for the police to solve but that it is a problem for all of us We all have a responsibility to make the streets and highways safe when we get into our automobiles "

Evans

At its convention here the group adopted a resolution advising that "any proposal for toll roads in Nebraska should include provisions for safeguarding the public's interests and investments in existing roads "

Another resolution called on the State Highway Department ' to co-operate with the counties in developing greater matching of federal-aid secondary funds by counties in building local roads at a cost within reach of county governments "

The marketers named Fred K Evans of Arapahoe president

Court Allows Railroad To Drop Norfolk Train

The State Supreme Court granted the Chicago & North Western Railway permission to discontinue Passenger Trains 21 and 22 between Omaha and Norfolk.

This affirmed a State Railway Commission order on the same subject All the towns and cities along the route, including Omaha, Fremont and Norfolk, have protested removing the trains and all appealed to the high court except Omaha

The Supreme Court opinion said "The record before us conclusively shows that need does not exist for the continued operation of these two trains, for the reason that the public prefers and has adopted other methods of transportation and has abandoned the use thereof '

• • •

ALSO LAID down were several other controlling precepts in such cases

The court said it is the duty of a carrier to seek elimination of services no longer needed for use by the public ' to any substantial extent "

In this case the commission was within the scope of its authority and not arbitrary and unreasonable the opinion stated

In the final analysis when an application is made for additional service or to discontinue an existing service the question to be determined is the public need or lack of need therefor,' the court explained

• • •

THE PROTESTING towns had objected to exhibits produced by the company to show that the trains operated at an annual loss of $36,892 00

But the court ruled, "We think the formula followed by the carrier of apportioning motor, locomotive and passenger car repairs to that class of equipment on a system-wide basis in order to get the average costs per mile for the use thereof is a fairer and more nearly accurate method of allocating such costs to individual operations than to charge to such operations the cost arising directly in connection with its use thereof "

Wisner to Vote On School Bonds

WISNER (AP) — Wisner voters will decide on Dec. 1 whether the city is to have a new elementary school building

A special election on issuing $155,000 in bonds for the building has been ordered by the Board of Education

Estimated cost of the new building including furnishings, a new heating plant and removal of an old building, is $215,000 However, a 3-mill levy which has been in effect since 1944 will have raised about $60,000 by next year, when that levy terminates

Plans for the proposed new building have been prepared by Schaumberg and Freeman of Lincoln The structure is designed to accommodate 235 children

Jail Inmates May Work on Streets

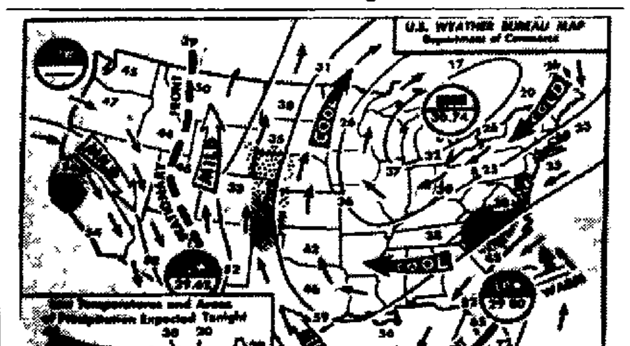

OMAHA (AP)—Police Commissioner Harold P Caldwell talked of making able bodied drunk and vagrant jail inmates work for their board and room at the city jail

Caldwell suggested they might help clear the streets after big snowstorms

This he said, would defeat the annual migration of bums seeking ' loafing time ' in the city jail at the taxpayers' expense during cold and stormy weather.

With the labor shortage, he said it would provide an emergency street-cleaning crew Heretofore the city has been forced to hire extra men to help clear streets after big storms

The commissioner emphasized his plan would not cheat able-bodied non-violators out of needed jobs The prisoners would be used only if manpower was not available during the emergencies

Arapahoe Man Is President Of State Petroleum Marketers

OMAHA (AP)—Fred K Evans of Arapahoe was advanced from first vice president to president of the Nebraska Petroleum Marketers Inc at the annual election He succeeds J H Tohn of Columbus Others named at the 33rd annual convention were Glenn D Martin of Falls City first vice president and Thomas D Witt of Pender, second vice president and H H Hahn of Lincoln re-elected secretary New directors to serve for three years include Larry Caskey of Stanton Allen Davison of Beatrice Harold Jacobs of Lincoln and J W Trenchard of Cambridge

F L BEEMAN transportation director for the new Kaneb Pipe Line that runs from the south central Kansas refining area to central Nebraska said it has been built and will be operated on two new concepts

It was built without any financial support from any oil company to transport products from several refineries, both major and independent companies

It was extended not to one large metropolitan area but to a point that could be considered a hub from which short haul truck movements could be made to a rich agricultural area

According to Beeman a point on Highway 81 between Geneva and Fairmont was chosen as the terminal because it is readily accessible for transports from all sections of Nebraska and South Dakota

HE NOTED the terminal was in the center of a Nebraska area that consumes more than 1½ million gallons of gasoline kerosene tractor fuel diesel and heating oils per day

Four trucks can be loaded at one time at the Fairmont terminal He explained that space at the terminal had been provided so that any company desiring to segregate products may erect its own storage tanks

Most of the line that starts at Wichita, is 10 inches in diameter Beeman said the line built by the CRC Engineering Co of Houston Tex would be operating in about a month

Gallup Poll

Liquor Opinion Split

By GEORGE GALLUP
American Inst. of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N J—If you want to start a good argument at the club or dinner table, just bring up the question of whether the sale of liquor should be permitted on U S military posts

Nation-wide, an Institute survey finds that opinion on the question splits sharply in every major segment of the population with the weight of sentiment opposed to liquor being sold 47 per cent disapprove, 44 per cent approve while 9 per cent express no opinion

Rarely does a survey question provoke such violent contrasts of views among the various groups in the adult population

For example, speaking in terms of the majority viewpoint, if you talk to a college-trained person he will be in favor of it But a person who has gone only through grade school will be opposed

* * *

A MAN WILL approve, while a woman will disapprove

Younger people say they favor it, whereas older people frown on it

A business and professional person or a white-collar worker will approve, but a farmer will disapprove

A Protestant will oppose it, whereas a Catholic is in favor

The question popped up in the news when a new liquor ruling was issued by the Army permitting the sale of liquor at officers' and enlisted men's clubs at Army camps.

For 52 years no liquor has been sold legally on Army property This dates from a 1901 law prohibiting liquor sales, which has never been repealed.

* * *

INTERVIEWERS put this question to a balanced cross-section of adults across the country:

"Do you approve or disapprove of liquor being sold at officers' and enlisted men's clubs on military posts?"

Approve	44%
Disapprove	47
No opinion	9
	100%

Some people qualified their vote of approval by saying "if it is supervised and regulated," "if it is not sold during duty hours," and "if it is not sold to minors"

A typical comment of those approving "They can get it off the post, why not on the post where it can be controlled?"

By all odds, the most often mentioned reason for disapproving was "I object to liquor anywhere, and particularly on an Army post"

* * *

TWO OTHER interesting aspects of the question turn up in the survey One is that rank-and-file Democrats are exactly evenly divided on the issue, whereas a majority of GOP voters disapprove

The other is that while a majority of adults living in the East approve, a somewhat larger majority in the South disapproves.

'U.S. Preparing New Super Bomb Test'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is believed to be getting set to test fire a new super bomb.

It will be a thermonuclear or fusion weapon, as was the shack-sized hydrogen device exploded at Eniwetok a year ago.

But it may incorporate:

1. New materials.

2. The same materials in different proportions.

3. The same materials in the same proportions but rigged more compactly to make a deliverable combat weapon.

Informed sources here have indicated that the new tests will be conducted at Bikini in the spring by Atomic Task Force 7, headed by Maj. Gen. Percy W. Clarkson.

* * *

BIKINI, 180 miles east of Eniwetok in the Pacific's Marshall Islands, has been converted by the Atomic Energy Commission into a new weapons proving ground. Eniwetok was getting too small for the commission's expanding test program.

Neither the AEC nor the military would confirm the time and place of the next tests or disclose the nature of the weapons to be tested.

But it has been obvious ever since last fall's H-bomb experiments that new ones were in the cards. A test device set off at Eniwetok last year, estimated unofficially as equal in power to nearly 5 million tons of TNT, was far too big for delivery by air.

* * *

IN THE year since this device "sank" the little island on which it was exploded, the AEC's weaponeers have been striving to perfect a less ponderous version which could be launched against a target.

That this version is ready for testing seems likely. Another possibility has been hinted by both Soviet and American sources. Last month Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said at a news conference that so-called thermonuclear weapons include "a series of bombs" whose violence comes from the fusion of light atomic nuclei. He said "There is certainly more than hydrogen in them."

Just this week radio Moscow said the Russians possess "several types" of both atomic and hydrogen bombs. U.S. scientists do not pooh-pooh the Russian claim.

British Student Mob Causes London Bedlam

LONDON (AP)—Shouting, hymn singing university students turned famed Bow Street Court into a bedlam when hearings began on mass arrests resulting from one of the most riotous Guy Fawkes nights in London history.

Singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," they marched through the parked and littered Covent Garden Market area, strewing exploding firecrackers in their wake, and tried to rush the doors of the court when they were thrown open.

Once inside the court, most of the students pleaded guilty to the charges and paid small fines.

The hearings were the aftermath of a wild outburst in London's plush West End, climaxed by a march of 10,000 university students and other young people on the houses of Parliament.

In Piccadilly Circus, heart of London night life, 65 stalwart bobbies stood shoulder to shoulder against determined assaults on the famous statue of Eros—Greek god of life. Climbing the statue is a favorite stunt of celebrating Britons.

One group of revelers wheeled up a wood-canvas mock fire engine and tried to lay a ladder against the statute. They were beaten off.

Several policemen were scorched by firecrackers and roman candles. One small girl was badly burned on the face.

The annual celebration—in honor of a 17th century Englishman who tried to blow up the houses of Parliament—started off calmly with millions of Britons dancing around bonfires, burning effigies of "the Guy" and drinking ale.

The rioting erupted, student spokesmen claimed, after police had refused them a permit for a big procession through London streets and a bonfire. A police spokesman said the only restriction was an old one forbidding processions or meetings within a mile of Parliament while the lawmakers are in session.

A-Bomb Defusers Being Trained

WASHINGTON (AP)—The military is training specialists for one of the most hazardous jobs in the whole dangerous profession of arms—defusing atomic bombs or shells which fail to explode.

Since the program started in 1949, a spokesman said, about 2,150 commissioned and noncommissioned officers from the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force have gone through the "special weapons disposal course" conducted by the Navy at Indian Head, Md.

The primary purpose of the school is to prepare specialists for disposing of "dud" atomic explosives which might be dropped or fired by an enemy on U.S. target cities or at troops in the field.

Simmons to Speak At PBK Meeting

Robert G. Simmons, chief justice of the Nebraska Supreme Court, is to address the Nebraska Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa after a dinner at 6:15 Wednesday in the Student Union. Simmons will discuss his recent trip to India and the Far East where he lectured as a representative of the U.S.

More than 100 PBK members and friends are expected to attend.

Rail Guard Killed

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP)—An Israeli army spokesman said a railway guard was killed and another wounded in an attack by armed raiders north of Hederah on Israel's coastal plain. An official complaint was filed with the United Nations Mixed Armistice Commission.

Rooms With a Future

NEW YORK (AP)—The uncertainty of the atomic age doesn't seem to bother the management of the Hendry Hudson Hotel. They have placed 27-year calendars in all guest rooms.

Miss Hoey to Get Retirement Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Miss Jane Hoey, ousted as director of the Bureau of Public Assistance, says she expects to get her full retirement benefits.

Miss Hoey, a native of Greeley County, Nebraska, told newsmen after the announcement of her removal that she would be eligible to retire upon reaching age 62 next Jan. 15. She said she also has the necessary government service to entitle her to retirement pay.

She explained that although her removal was made effective as of Dec. 1, she has enough accumulated leave to keep her place on the federal payroll until Jan. 15. She said she has been told she may follow that course, instead of having to accept a lump sum payment for the leave on Dec. 1. This will mean, she added, there will be no reduction in her retirement benefits.

Second of Quads Dies

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The second of Lansing's Van Alstine quadruplets died Friday.

Donald Ray, first of the quadruplets born Oct. 26 to Mrs. June Trollman Van Alstine, died at Sparrow Hospital where he had lived in an incubator since birth. Death was attributed to cardio-respiratory failure.

Brownell Urges Press to Fight Secrecy

Newsman Tells Editors News Bans Should Go

CHICAGO (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell urged the press, radio and television to continue combatting any unnecessary secrecy thrown around federal government operations.

In an address to the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., Brownell asserted:

"You must seek out and oppose any operation of government which places a barrier in the way of free flow of information."

The attorney general devoted his address to President Eisenhower's new executive order, announced in Washington, dealing with safeguards on official information in relation to the national defense.

"THROUGH HIS new order, he has reached his goal—the elimination of unnecessary obstacles which interfere with the activities of the press, radio, television, and other media of public information in bringing to the people knowledge of the plans, policies and daily operations of 'their government,'" Brownell said.

Brownell paid tribute to the suggestions offered by those handling the news. These, he said, had assisted the administration in putting together the new order.

A newspaper editor at the meeting called for an easing of the tight secrecy surrounding atomic energy on grounds that the price paid for such secrecy is "too, too high."

William Steven of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune said:

"A full development of the peaceful uses of atomic power inevitably demands that the secrecy clauses in the present law be eliminated."

Steven, chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., told news executives at the annual APME meeting:

"The one greatest power source discovered by man we lock up as best we can behind a wall of secrecy—not trusting it to ourselves for fear we reveal it to someone else, not trusting our own capacities to think ahead, produce ahead and stay ahead of the nations of the world.

"HOW CAN WE win the battle for democracy, for the rights of man, with tactics of nationalization, of monopoly, of secrecy?

Steven said that among the things "wrong" with atomic secrecy are these:

"Newspapers cannot inform the people.

"Public agencies and employees cannot be fairly judged.

"We cannot evaluate our defenses. We cannot know whether we are doing all that must be done to be safe.

"We stultify proper interest in civilian defense.

Senator Protests Korean Censorship

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Smathers (D-Fla) protested bitterly to the Pentagon against what he termed "intolerable interference" by the Army with newsmen's efforts to report the news from Korea.

He wrote Secretary of Defense Wilson urging a swift crackdown on "putrifying" news censorship by the military and suggested that some eager-beaver censors are "more officious than efficient."

There was no immediate comment from the Pentagon.

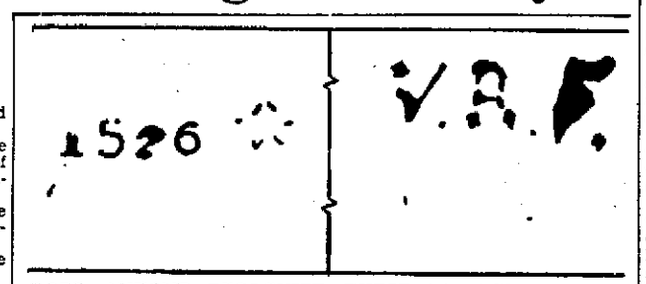

Smathers, who made the letter public, said in an interview his protest stemmed from dispatches by John Randolph, Associated Press correspondent in Korea.

Randolph reported increasing "political" censorship of the news and said some facts not related to security had been suppressed. Among other things, Randolph said the military has refused to clear the true story of an Allied plane which bombed and strafed U. S. soldiers in the field last January, killing 14 men.

Soviet TV Set Tested

BALTIMORE (AP)—Engineers at the Bendix Aviation Corporation are testing a Russian television receiver, believed to be the only modern set of its kind in this country.

The set, labeled a Leningrad T-2, has an eight-inch picture tube and is encased in an attractive modernistic table-model cabinet of walnut veneer. It has six dials but can tune only one channel. Engineers said the sound receiver is very good but the picture apparatus is about 10 years behind American sets.

DOES ANYONE RECOGNIZE THESE MARKS?—These are sketches of laundry marks. They are among the few clues through which Lancaster County authorities still hope to identify the baby boy whose body was found Oct. 21 in roadside bushes south of the state hospital. The marks, which appear to be four numbers and a star (left) and the initials VRF (right) appear in opposite corners on the hem of a piece of bloodsoaked sheet in which the baby's body was found. An autopsy showed that the child, born alive, presumably died a short time later from exposure and lack of care. Several leads have been reported but none have worked out, Dep. Co. Atty. Elmer Scheele said. (Journal Drawing.)

Lower Property Tax Levy Asked

TOPEKA (AP)—"Elementary justice to individual taxpayers" is sought by the Allen County (Kan) Assessment Equalization committee, which has suggested a revolutionary revision of Kansas property-taxing procedures.

The committee is aiming at "100 per cent" valuations which would be balanced by "reduced tax levies by 1958."

The committee presented its "progress report" to the Kansas Commission on Assessment Equalization, which will make recommendations to the 1955 Legislature.

Ban to Keep Big Trucks Off Paved Side Streets

SOUTH SIOUX CITY — The City Council has instructed the city attorney to draw up a resolution prohibiting heavy trucks from driving on paved side streets.

No weight limit was set.

Mayor Allen said he has seen trucks with "40 ton loads" use an off-the-avenue street.

Penelope No Mother

NEW YORK (AP) — Penelope, the duck-billed platypus, apparently just was joking when she acted like an expectant mother.

Bronx Zoo workers, believing the first such blessed event had occurred in the U.S., dug for more than two hours into an earth bank to the source of a tunnel she burrowed. They found Penelope—but no sign of any egg.

Dr. Watkins Tells Gains Of Schools

Speaking before the City PTA Council Dr. Steven N. Watkins highlighted the increase in enrollment in the public schools, increased personnel and teaching space. Contrasting the 1950 and 1953 figures he noted that there are now 149 more certificated teachers, 89 more elementary school rooms, and a total increased enrollment in the Lincoln public schools of 2,935. By 1957 Dr. Watkins estimated that the elementary school enrollment would climb from its present 10,404 children to 12,600. Keeping up with the rising school enrollment, Dr. Watkins presented figures on the number of new dwelling units erected in Lincoln during the last three years and noted the city areas which are being developed.

Mrs. William McDermet announced that the PTA will have a window in the Continental National Bank decorated for National Education Week, Nov. 8-14. Mrs. Wendell Groth explained the "exceptional child" party for home-bound children which is to be held in December, and Mrs. Lyle Hans spoke on the sale of the National Parent Teacher Magazine.

Lines for Ladies

Lots of planning has gone into Queen Elizabeth's trip next February to Australia . . . not the least of which concerns the plane in which she will make some 35 flights.

A Lincoln Journal-Chicago Daily News Foreign Service story calls the airship a "gilded flying penthouse." One steps into a sumptuously appointed little dining room with polished oak table and deep-padded seats for four. The lounge up forward is walled in white leatherette, and is air-conditioned for hot or cold weather. Her bedroom in the twin-engined home is pink, grey and white . . . enough to make any woman green with envy.

Fashion notes: The nation's jewelry designers have decided to counteract the narrow silhouette of fall fashions, offsetting the slim look by jewelry which is bigger and bulkier than ever. Necklaces are large and the massive look is increased with pendant drops with various cuts of stones. Earrings are huge whether they're hoop or over-sized drop styles.

Women over 40 and teenage girls are worrying the nation's dairy farmers. They aren't drinking enough milk because they are afraid of spreading their waistlines.

This is a mistake, according to Dr. Hazel K. Stiebeling, who points out that milk actually is a basic food in most reducing diets.

Dr. Stiebeling, a nutrition expert with the Agricultural Research Administration, made these observations at the 31st annual Agricultural Outlook conference held in Washington. The problem of declining milk consumption at thee same time dairy farmer's costs are rising was the major subject at the meeting.

No Refund on Her Dowry

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen years ago Friday an odd thing happened to my wife.

I married her.

We thought the preacher was mixed up when he asked Frances if she would take me ". . . for bitter, for worse . . ."

But in the years since then my wife has often found occasion to muse, "You know, I think that minister meant exactly what he said. He was probably trying to warn me before it was too late what life with a newspaperman would be like."

"Well, what is it like?" I ask, and she says, "Oh, it's rather like building a home in a roller coaster. You don't know whether you're having fun . . . or just getting dizzy. But you never have a settled feeling."

"WOULD YOU rather I worked in a bank?"

"Well, I'd at least have the consolation of knowing where you were," says Frances. "If you handled the bank's money like you do your own, you'd be in a nice warm prison, and I could bring you cookies every month."

The subject of money has come up between us several times in the last 16 years, partly, I suppose, because of the way I frittered away her dowry.

Frances arrived here from the Ozarks with a $100 cashier's check, which she had brought along to pay her railroad fare back home in case she came to her senses and changed her mind about marrying me. I had never seen a girl with that much money. And I guess it did rather go to my head.

AS SOON as I got my hands on the dough I let her know she wasn't getting married to a cheap tinhorn but a man with the real "Diamond Jim" Brady spirit. I bought her a six-bit dinner, five courses in those days, took her to the best movie on Broadway, and flipped half a buck to a flower peddler for a gardenia.

Frances was visibly impressed. But she was even more visibly depressed when I informed her that the rest of her $100 dowry would have to finance the wedding, as I was between paydays.

"In Missouri I'm sure the bridegroom at least pays for the marriage license," she whispered, as the clerk peered out the window.

"You're in the big city now, Honey," I said, reaching for her pocketbook.

WHEN PEOPLE ask Frances now where we spent our honeymoon, she still laughs—a trifle deliriously.

"Honeymoon?" she asks. "Listen, the day after Rover ambushed me at the altar I asked him for some of my money to buy groceries. He said it was all gone, he wouldn't be paid until the next day, and we would have to eat what was in the icebox.

"You know what was in the icebox? a loaf of bread and two bottles of milk. So we had nothing but bread and milk for two days. There wasn't even any butter."

Well, times picked up some in the years that followed. But whenever I ask Frances what she would like to have as a wedding anniversary, she laughs and says:

"Just give me back my $100—and my common sense."

But after 16 years she knows it's too late."

League Leaders Will Clarify Bowl Picture

Illinois Has Good Chance To Gain Ground in Big 10

NEW YORK (AP) — A clearer picture of the line-up for the four major Bowl games—Rose, Sugar, Cotton, and Orange—will emerge Saturday from key gridiron battles in six conferences

With the 1953 pigskin season rushing into its final weeks, Illinois, unbeaten leader of the Big Ten, can put itself in a commanding position in the chase for that league's Rose Bowl berth by beating Michigan, especially since one of its closest rivals will be jolted in the Ohio State-Michigan State fray.

• • •

STANFORD, topping the Pacific Coast Conference with a 5-0-0 record, will really move out strong for the other Rose Bowl spot if it whips third-place Southern California The odds-makers, however, are predicting otherwise—making Southern Cal a 6-point choice

Baylor, anxious for the Cotton Bowl berth reserved for the Southwest Conference king, will really take charge of that race if it makes good as a 6-point pick over second-place Texas. On the other hand, a Texas win would throw the race into a deadlock.

Oklahoma, leader of the Big Seven race which leads to a berth in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla , has a chance to go far ahead in that race if it beats Missouri as predicted That's because second-place Kansas State is an underdog in its game against Kansas

In the Atlantic Coast Conference, whose champion fills the other Orange Bowl spot, Maryland, the nation's second-ranking team, will keep its lead secure as it plays an outside game against George Washington

• • •

THERE'S AN excellent chance that members of the Southern Conference will be allowed to play in bowl games That was recommended by the league's special committee Thursday but must yet be approved by two-thirds of the league

That means unbeaten West Virginia, riding the nation's top winning streak of 12 games, will have added incentive to avoid a letdown when it opposes VPI in a conference game. VPI has won three of four conference games but is expected to provide only token opposition for the Mountaineers.

• • •

OUTSIDE the conference races, the major interest centers around Notre Dame's visit to Philadelphia where the nation's first-ranked team faces a battle-tested but weary Pennsylvania team The Irish were bolstered by the return to active duty of Coach Frank Leahy, who communicated with the team from a sickbed during last Saturday's 38-7 route of Navy

In the other big intersectional meetings, Army faces North Carolina State, Boston College meets Wake Forest, Mississippi opposes North Texas State, Virginia meets Pittsburgh and Washington State plays TCU.

A good Penn State meets erratic Fordham and Harvard and Princeton renew their hallowed rivalry in other Eastern features, Marquette meets Detroit in the Midwest, Navy and Duke square off and Georgia Tech plays Clemson in the South, Texas Tech opposes Arizona in the Southwest and Colorado and Utah and Montana State and Montana meets in the Far West

Pee Wee Refuses New Job

Bums Still Hunting Boss

NEW YORK (AP) — Pee Wee Reese politely but firmly removed himself from Brooklyn's managerial sweepstakes Friday, making Fresco Thompson, one of the club's two vice presidents, the No 1 candidate to manage the Dodgers next year

Thompson never has managed in the major leagues but it was learned that club President Walter O'Malley was seriously considering the silver-thatched veteran's special qualifications for the job left vacant by Chuck Dressen's refusal to accept a one-year contract and Reese's reluctance to take on the dual burden of playing and managing

These special qualifications were as follows

1 A willingness to accept an interim job Thompson an organization man would willingly return to his job as director of the farm system when and if Reese is ready to accept the managerial post in one or two years

2 He is a veteran—the type the club feels it must have to manage a team of established stars

3 As a result of his present post he has a thorough knowledge of the team and the organization and has earned the respect of the players

4 Gifted with a sharp and witty tongue he would be a 'fighter on the field' of the type the club feels Brooklyn fans want

After Thompson the outstanding candidate appeared to be Bucky Harris of the Washington Senators although even Brooklyn officials doubted whether the popular Bucky would be willing to settle for a one-year pact

The actual naming of the new Dodger pilot, meanwhile seemed to be in the distant future—perhaps not before the new year O'Malley and Vice President Buzzy Bavasi had been sure that Reese would accept the job and were shocked when the little captain and shortstop indicated his reluctance

Reese, who revealed that he had discussed the situation with Bavasi recently, said he based his decision on the problems of playing and managing at the same time

"I've always said I want to play for a couple of years more at least and I don't think I can successfully play and manage at the same time," Reese said at his Louisville, Ky, home "Bavasi and I talked in general terms There was no definite offer made at that time but I can say that I was being considered and I am very appreciative of that"

Reese conceded it was possible no job would be open when he eventually decides to hang up his glove but said "Right now, I feel I'm doing the right thing"

Crete Wins Year's Final

CRETE—The Crete grid team ended its season on a successful note here Thursday night by defeating Sutton 19-0 in a Trans-Nebraska Conference contest

Crete scored first in the opening quarter when Larry Roth went over from one yard out to cap a 64-yard drive The kick by Kick Steiner was good.

The second score came in the second period on an 11-yard Roth-Melvin Emeigh pass The final score came in the third period when Terry Hokenstad went over after a drive covering 66 yards

Halfback Bob Eberhard and Fullback Larry Kimmermans were stand-outs for the Sutton crew.

Two Seniors Play Last NWU Contest

Two Nebraska Wesleyan University seniors will wrap up their gridiron careers when the Plainsmen face Midland college at Fremont Saturday night.

They are Gordon Marts, Nebraska City senior who has served as captain of the team this fall and Dick Nagele of Lincoln Each is an end

Marts broke into the Plainsman line-up as a freshman when Coach Roy Robertson's squad developed a rash of end woes and has improved consistently each year Last season he was an all Nebraska College Conference choice He will have earned four varsity numerals by the end of this season

Nagele, seeking his third "W," has been a starter most of the way this year despite injuries which slowed him during the early part of the season

Robertson drilled his charges lightly Thursday in an effort to prevent any last minute injuries

'Outside of Marvin Macy, we should be at our best physical strength in five weeks," Robertson said 'We won't take any chances on injuring a boy at this stage of the game If we win this one, we can still end the season with a 500 record"

Robertson said Blaine Rieke Burlington, Ia , guard will join Marts as co-captain for the Midland tilt

Wayne Rolls Into Second

WAYNE — Wayne cinched at least a tie for second place in the Nebraska College Conference Thursday afternoon by downing Hastings 13-7

Jim Anderson figured in all three touchdowns He scored the first Wildcat score on a nine yard pass from Don Kellogg and made the other score on a three yard line plunge

Hastings made a determined drive in the final period only to lose the ball on downs on the Wayne four However, Anderson's punt was blocked and Dale Walker fell on the ball in the end zone to score six points for Hastings

One of the outstanding runs of the day was a 78 yard run by Wildcat Jim Kay from the kickoff after the half

Huskers Ready for Iowa State Air Bombardment; Paulson on First Club

By WALT DOBBINS
Journal Sports Editor

DES MOINES, Ia —Nebraska's football squad of 34 players, minus Guard Max Kitzelman of Omaha, arrived here Friday enroute to Ames and took a late afternoon workout in the Drake Stadium Kitzelman aggravated an old ankle injury in last Wednesday's drill and will be replaced by Jerry Paulson of Dell Rapids, S D

• • •

GIVEN a dry field at Ames the skirmish looms as a first class passing duel between Cyclone Bill Plantan and Husker Johnny Bordogna To date the Ames quarterback has the edge in total yards gained, 552 to 480 while the NU back has the better average, 38 out of 86 compared to Plantan's 26 successful slips in 84 tries

The Iowa Stater served notice that he is "red hot" when he completed 12 out of 18 tosses including a pair of touchdown heaves against Colorado last week.

By beating Kansas 9-0 compared to a 23-0 loss sustained by the Cyclones in their tilt with the Jayhawks earlier in the campaign Nebraska is a pregame 7-point favorite to nip Abe Stuber's charges

• • •

WITH the single exception of Kitzelman the Husker staff plans to start the same eleven that defeated Kansas 9-0 last week. The game will be John McWilliams' second start of the season, the fleet Negro leather toter having found himself against the Jayhawks

Nebraska will hold a 14-pound per man weight advantage over the speedy Cyclones, who like the Cornhuskers will be seeking their second Big Seven triumph

Cyclone fans are hoping for an upset like that which befell Missouri's Tigers earlier in the campaign Officials are expecting a crowd of 12,000 for the Parents' Day skirmish

The NU players making the jaunt here includes seven ends six tackles six guards three centers and 12 ball carriers as follows

Ends Jack Pratley Miles City Mont Don Hewitt Sioux Falls S Dak Andy Loehr Turtle Creek Pa Dean Lutt No Bend Bill Schabacker Turtle Creek Pa Jerry Verner Hastings Syl Harris Kansas City Mo

Tackles Quinlan Anderson Oakland Fed Connor Hastings Rapid City S Dak Pev Evans Bill Holloran Schuyler Jerry Minnick, Cambridge; Dick moore Mt Vernon Ia

Quarterbacks John Bordogna Turtle Creek Pa Dan Brown Sioux Falls S Dak Rex Fischer Oakland

Halfbacks Max Kennedy Beatrice Dennis Korinek Ulysses Jon McWilliams Sidney Burks Rolston Forsyth Mont Leo Scherer Jr No Platte Bob Smith Grand Island

Fullbacks Nick Adduci Chicago John Edwards No Platte Ray Novak Omaha

• • •

UNLESS there are some last minute changes in battle plans Coach Stuber will start Plantan Cox, Lutz and Burkett in his backfield while Barney Alleman who didn't make the Colorado trip a week ago on account of injuries, will be back at his old station at left end

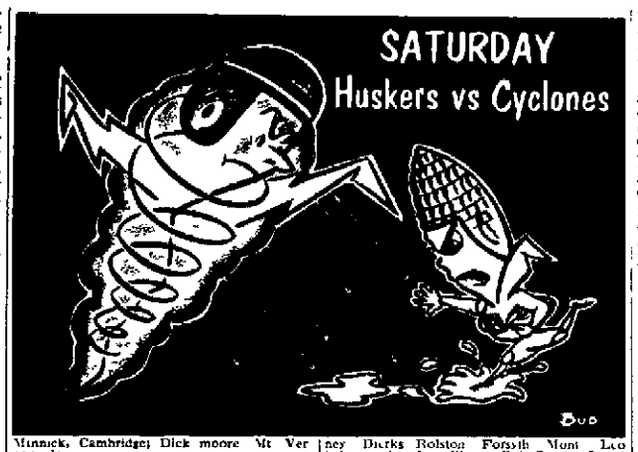

The game closes the Iowa State season at Ames and 14 members of the Cyclone squad will be putting in their final appearance. They are Bob Rohwedder, end; Ralph Brown, Ron Thompson, Jack Lessin, and Chuck Coey, tackles, Bill Wilson, Erhard Moosman, Gean Kowalski and Jim Champlin, guards, Jim Rawley, center, Bill Plantan, Dan Rice, Dick Cox and Don Houser, backs

It will be the last time Bill Schabacker, Jerry Yeager, Ted Connor, Jerry Minnick, John Machisic, Jerry Paulson, Jim Oliver, Ted Britt, John Bordogna, Max Kennedy and Ray Novak of the Huskers set foot on Iowa State sod

After Wayne's 13-7 defeat of Hastings Thursday afternoon, only one other Nebraska College Conference team has a chance for a share of second place And, Kearney has to defeat Peru to get that share

Wayne finished the season with a 4-2-1 record, while Kearney has a 3-2-1 mark with the Peru tilt left to play Friday night Peru, sitting on 21 straight wins and undefeated this season will also wrap up its 1953 schedule with its jaunt to the home of the Antelopes

The Bobcats are, as usual, favored to win but a somewhat disappointing Kearney club has been pointing for this one for a long time Coach Preacher Franklin could consider it a fairly successful year, despite two losses and a tie, if he could snap the Bobcats' string The last time Peru was defeated, it was an Antelope crew that did the job That was in 1951

The standings, except for Midland and Nebraska Wesleyan will be decided Friday The Warriors and the Plainsmen meet Saturday night

Bolstered by returned veteran Jim McWilliams student end heading a rough and ready line the Warriors, recent conference doormats, are favored to win a loop tilt for the second time this year, but crippled Wesleyan still has the power for a winning season finish

Doane is expected to end its season successfully against Chadron, winless in league play Hastings and Wayne played Thursday night

Only one JC game is on tap this Saturday with Fairbury visiting Norfolk. The game will not decide anything in a conference way as McCook has already sewed up the title

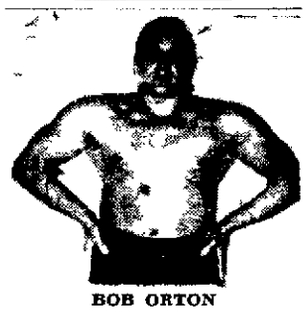

Sterling, Kan , will travel to Seward to try its luck with Concordia and Sterling, Colo , will play on Scottsbluff home grounds in another interstate match

By JIM RAGLIN
Journal Sports Writer

Grand Island meets Lincoln at the Capital City in the top tilt on the prep grid program this week

It should be a bruising battle, as are most of the tussles between these two teams

Despite the fine record compiled by Lincoln so far this season, our vote goes to the Islanders. By how many touchdowns? At approximately 9 45 p.m. Friday, this scribe will venture a guess about that.

I May Be Wrong

By Walt Dobbins
Journal Sports Editor

Quarterback Johnny Bordogna will be "shooting the works" Saturday against Iowa State. He will be out to regain the No. 1 spot as the Big Seven conference's leading passer.

Bill Plantan, senior signal caller for the Cyclones, had a big day against the Colorado Buffs and passed Bordogna in the official standings last week.

Records over the past four seasons including the first five games of the current season indicate, however, that the Cyclones are exceedingly tough to pass against.

Not only has Coach Abe Stuber's teams permitted only .399 completions against them for the Big Seven's top record but they rank second as a passing team.

• • •

OKLAHOMA'S SOONERS lead in pass offense with a .473 mark with the Cyclones following with a .468 effort. Nebraska's Cornhuskers rate sixth in both departments.

Here's how the Big Seven teams rate for the past four years and through the first five games in 1953:

	Pass offense				Pass defense
	Atts.	Comp.	Pct.		Opp. Atts.	Comp.	Pct.
Oklahoma	469	246	.473	Iowa State	619	247	.399
Iowa State	850	398	.468	Colorado	815	334	.410
Colorado	633	295	.466	Missouri	771	341	.432
Missouri	966	416	.431	Oklahoma	944	417	.442
Kansas	700	286	.409	Kansas	708	309	.469
Nebraska	615	241	.397	Nebraska	707	328	.467
Kansas State	767	278	.362	Kansas State	736	365	.496

May Form New Loop

There is a move being made to form a new athletic conference that would include Wayne U of Detroit; Washington U of St. Louis, Drake, Butler, Western Reserve, Western Michigan and Bradley.

I wonder why these same schools or some of them at least don't try for a berth in the Missouri Valley? It could stand new blood.

The current Valley setup isn't good. Member schools include Houston, Detroit, Wichita, Oklahoma A&M, Tulsa and St. Louis U. Drake and Bradley pulled out of the Valley two years ago and Washington hasn't been a member since 1947.

Western Reserve and Western Michigan belong to the Mid-American loop and Butler is in the Indiana conference.

Nebraska, up to 1927 was a member of the old Valley but quit to join the Big Six, later to become the Big Seven although still known officially as the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Looking Ahead to CU

Although it may seem to be in bad taste to bypass the Iowa State tussle at this stage, there is a leather lugging dazzler at Colorado U who will show here next weekend. I'm not thinking of flect Carroll Hardy but of Frank Bernardi, Dal Ward's new "ace in the hole."

The free-wheeling wingback ousted sophomore fullback Emerson Wilson, who had been in the top spot since the beginning of the season, with a mighty 104-yard performance against Iowa State Saturday.

Bernardi also took over as the Buffs' total offense leader as he added 45 yards on three pass completions. The swarthy little junior now has accounted for 503 yards.

• • •

A LOOK AT THE STATISTICS sheet reveals that Bernardi had one of the busiest and most productive afternoons in Colorado history last week. In all, he had a hand in 212 yards and two touchdowns. He carried the ball 12 times for 104 yards, passed for three completions in four tries for another 45, caught one aerial for 17 yards, returned two interceptions for 41 yards and hauled back a punt five yards. He scored one touchdown and threw to end Gary Knafelc for another.

Elsewhere among the Buffs, Knafelc strengthened his team and Big Seven pass-receiving lead as he speared three pitches for 71 yards to swell his total to 14 receptions for 305 yards.

The lean flanker, one of the top ends in the conference, scored twice to tie Wilson for the team scoring lead with 30 points. Knafelc isn't rated nationally because NCAB pass reception statistics are based on number of catches. However the Pueblo senior's 305 yards are topped by only four other receivers in the country. And his five touchdown catches place him second in that category.

West Coast Diamond Clamor Is Puzzling Majors' Bigwigs

NEW YORK (AP)—The rising clamor to bring major league baseball to the West Coast has reached a fever pitch and the club owners were wondering Friday just how they would approach the problem at the minor league meeting at the end of the month and the major league sessions in December.

Until International League President Frank Shaughnessy presented his plan for two 12 team leagues, the moguls were in a dither. They wanted to expand, but they didn't know just how to do it.

Shag's plan calls for two leagues of 12 teams each—which, naturally, would take in at least a couple of West Coast cities—to be divided into eastern and western sections. The first four finishers in each section would play off to meet in the World Series.

THIS, OF course, is what most of the minors have been doing since 1932 when Shaughnessy introduced his "Shaughnessy Playoffs." It has kept interest alive even when one team ran away with the pennant, because in the play-offs any of the first four clubs could win.

"It would give the majors a sensible program for expansion," said Shaughnessy, who was in town for a baseball rules committee meeting, "instead of the present uncertain, panicky grabbing of minor league territory. At the same time it would stabilize the minor leagues."

Walter O'Malley, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers already has seen the Shaughnessy plan and he likes it, but cautions that "It isn't something that is going to be done in a couple of weeks or maybe a couple of years, but eventually something will have to be done and to me the Shaughnessy plan looks sound."

O'Malley acknowledged that "a change is imperative" because of various pressures that have been exerted on the majors, but he does not want a third major league.

"To do that would mean a setting up of a new league which obviously would include numerous weak cities and I doubt whether any of the clubs in the majors would care to more into any new circuit."

When and if the leagues are expanded, four cities seem virtually certain of being included—Los Angeles, San Francisco, Montreal and Toronto.

Despite the fact that Chuck Dressen has returned to Oakland and Bill Veeck has joined the Chicago Cubs' organization as an adviser to the Los Angeles club, there remain many problems to be solved including rebuilding the ball parks to major league capacity.

Fain Switched to Outfield

CHICAGO (AP)—First Baseman Ferris Fain, winner of the 1951 and 1952 American League batting titles, will be used by the Chicago White Sox in left field next season.

Manager Paul Richards, here for a huddle of Sox officials, Friday disclosed the line-up switch which also moves left fielder Minnie Minoso to third base and will have two players, Bob Boyd and Connie Ryan, alternating at first base.

Fain, who only batted .256 last season, is willing to try the outfield where he played when he broke into professional baseball, Richards said.

• • •

THE MOVE strongly indicated that General Manager Frank Lane has had no success in his efforts to deal for a sound third baseman and another outfielder.

Richards, Lane, vice president Chuck Comiskey and John Rigney, Sox farm director, met in a discussion of 1954 plans that may last several days.

The Sox finished third in the 1953 race, 11½ games behind the Champion New York Yankees.

Against righthanders, the Sox will use Chico Carrasquel at short, Nellie Fox at second, Boyd at first, Minoso at third, Fain in left, Jim Rivera in center and Sam Mele in right.

Against lefthanders, Ryan will replace Boyd, and Bill Wilson will be center instead of Rivera. Richards did not list his catcher, who last season mainly was Sherm Lollar.

Although the White Sox' new training base at Tampa, Fla., still is under construction, pitchers and catchers will report Feb. 22 and outfielders and infielders March 1.

The Sox will conduct their pre-spring training school for selected minor leaguers at Hollywood, Fla., starting March 1.

Lane, who reportedly had his contract extended five years from 1955 after turning down the the general managership of the Baltimore Orioles, revealed he had talked trades to Art Ehlers, New Baltimore general manager. Nothing developed, he said, but he learned Shortstop Bill Hunter and Pitchers Don Larsen and Bob Turley were Oriole "untouchables."

Wheat Area Soil Moisture Tops '52's

Top Soil Drier Than Year Ago

A recent survey by the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics has shown soil moisture conditions in the western two-thirds of Nebraska's wheat growing area are slightly better than a year ago, but below the average for the past several years

Tests were made in 120 seeded winter wheat fields between Oct 19 and 30 all taken to a depth of 48 inches Seventy-one tests were in summer fallowed fields and 49 in fields that had been continuously cropped

The average moisture penetration in all fields was 37 8 inches Last year it was 36 5 inches

* * *

THE BUREAU said one rather significant difference was the moisture in the first six inches of soil This year there was only 1 7 inches of dry top soil while last year there was 4 6 inches Rains the latter part of October added much to the moisture saturation in the first foot and greatly reduced the dry condition that had prevailed during most of September

In fields seeded to wheat following summer fallow the depth of moisture averaged 41 7 inches but in non fallow fields it was only 32 1 inches

Wheat generally was seeded slightly earlier than a year ago in most areas and because of the moisture that fell about Sept 2-3 the crop germinated much better than it did last year although there are many spotted stands in the southern and eastern parts of the state

* * *

IN THE WESTERN areas the plants have stooled well developed a good secondary root system and have a healthy color The soil is packed well around the crown and the crop will go into the winter in much better condition than a year ago Then the top soil was very dry and the crop had not developed secondary roots

In the eastern area there are some dry spots where the wheat emerged and died from lack of moisture but these fields are comparatively few in relation to last year

This year the height of the wheat averaged 3 7 inches compared to 4 3 last year

* * *

IN GENERAL wheat planted on continuously cropped land that was plowed immediately following the harvest of the crop is in better condition than wheat planted on late plowed ground The moisture saturation is much better in the early plowed fields

In Lancaster County and adjacent counties to the west and south the second foot of soil is generally dry

Bruning Dedicating New Concrete Paving

By AL REMMENGA
Journal Staff Writer

BRUNING — Two hundred and fifty proud Bruning residents have chalked up another tally on their scoreboard of community improvements

Another major community project has given this southern Nebraska village more than 2½ blocks of concrete paving costing more than $25 000 Friday night the townspeople, together with the surrounding farmfolk will turn out at a public dedication which will formally mark the completion of the hard topped main street described by Village Councilman Wayne Thompson as a "co-operative effort of a church congregation, the property owners and the town"

The 2½ blocks of pavement—almost extending the entire width of the town—was completed late in October and the final touches were expected to be completed in time for the dedication ceremony H W Hinricks who next spring will celebrate his 50th years as a Bruning hardware and appliance dealer has been given the honor of cutting the ribbon which will open main street to traffic

* * *

SPEAKING AT the ceremony will be Emil Placek, a retired Wahoo banker and world traveler, who has been the leader of Wahoo civic projects for more than half a century. Bruning s 40-piece high school band will turn out for the program and the church choir of Trinity Lutheran Church will appear at the dedication

Placek

The contract for the six-inch pavement including four intersections, was awarded Aug 17 to the Missouri Valley Construction Co of Omaha who submitted a $25 273 bid $1 676 50 under the engineer's estimate Contract specifications called for the excavating of 1 650 cubic yards of earth, laying of 1 660 feet of concrete curb and gutter installation of two inlets laying of 6 145 square yards of concrete pavement installation of 400 lineal feet of concrete headers and the installation of 3 000 square feet of sidewalk and one manhole

The town expects to sell an estimated $15 000 in bonds to finance the project

* * *

TRINITY LUTHERAN Church under the leadership of the Rev C E Schaff, "willingly" raised $3 500 to continue the pavement one-half block past their house of worship Although this area will be used for church parking Councilman Ed Hulse said 'the town appreciates their help The paved area will provide more than 110 parking stalls on Bruning s main street

Since World War II, Bruning has

1 Purchased a new fire truck
2 Installed a sewage system
3 Taken over former air base facilities for a town-owned housing project
4 Built a new $80,000 Lutheran Church
5 Built a new public school, which now has 133 students
6 Erected 15 new incandescant street lights

Banker Fred H Bruning a descendant of the town s founder, is mayor of the village Other councilmen besides Thompson and Hulse are Rex Phillipi and Dale H Henricks

Nebraska GI Faces Charge Of Conspiring

BERLIN (AP) — For the first time in the U S Army's history in Europe, a soldier will be placed on trial on charges of luring his comrades to join a foreign power.

The case is being prepared against Pvt Robert D Blevens, 29, of Omaha, Neb , and may be called up for hearing before a general court at the end of next week

These charges have been filed against Blevens desertion from Feb 13 to April 24 desertion from May 10 to Aug 20 jail break, conspiring with a German girl to induce American military personnel to desert to the east, violation of the Smith Act which forbids 'affiliating' with any group, such as the Communists, which advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States

The charges could mean imprisonment for more than 20 years if found guilty

Blevens left his Berlin unit last winter and after 10 weeks returned Placed in the stockade, he jumped the wall one night and disappeared again Weeks later he was caught in the French sector

The Army says it has evidence that Blevens teamed up with a German girl to talk other soldiers into living in the Russian zone, where asylum is granted quickly as long as a soldier is willing to subject himself to propaganda against the West

NEW YORK (AP)—Railroad shares, with gains ranging to more than a point, led the stock market higher Friday on increased volume.

The rise in carriers moved that component of the averages to its best level since Aug. 26. The advance also helped other departments. Industrial prices now reach back to April 2.

Market news continued on the favorable side. The good earnings reports being released at this time again supported the list.

Soyas Fully Even; Other Grains Down

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans were fully steady on the Board of Trade Friday while the remainder of the grains were mostly fractionally lower.

Short covering was fairly active in the bean pit but other grains encountered hedging and profit taking. Wheat came in for selling on the drop of over a cent a bushel at Minneapolis and also on the larger cash receipts in the Northwest.

Hedging in the corn pit reflected heavier arrivals locally.

Northern Natural Gas Co., Omaha utility, has registered its proposed $25 million of debentures, due Nov. 1, 1973, with the Securities and Exchange Commission. An underwriting group headed by Blyth and Co., Inc., will offer the securities to the public.

Business Tide

Fall Goods Go if Cold Winds Blow

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The weather has been unpleasantly pleasant for some businessmen. They blame the tardy arrival of cold winds for the slow movement of fall goods.

Others aren't so sure. A few ask if it's the weather or a change in the economic climate.

The spread across the nation of the fall's coldest weather comes none too soon for many merchants—but not for all.

The longer delayed the cold blasts of winter the better sellers of some types of warm weather products, soft drinks, say) have liked it. The weatherman can't please all businessmen any more than the rest of us.

Appealing a Mnuicipal Court drunken driving conviction to Lancaster District Court has brought Floyd Fallon, 41, of 2255 So. 14th, 30 days in jail instead of the $100 fine levied in the lower court.

In addition, he was ordered not to drive for 30 days after release from jail. In Municipal Court his license had been suspended for six months.

Judge Harry Ankeny passed sentence on Fallon who had pleaded guilty to a July 4 offense.

Other appellants sentenced by Judge Ankeny on drunken driving charges include:

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

BY ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D Sc

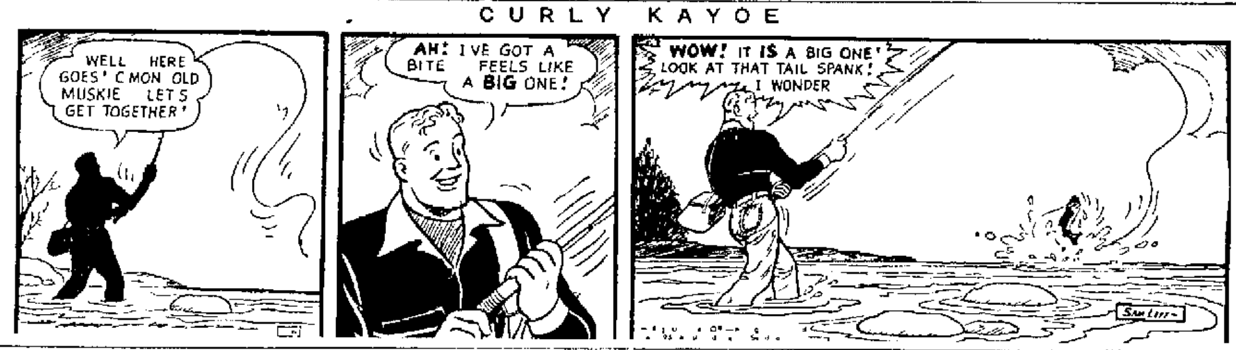

1. No You should never decide things for anyone but small children and feeble minded persons One man wrote me, My whole future depends on your decision My decision would do him a moral wrong and be unfair to me The biggest thing parents can teach children is how to see all sides of their problems and the probable consequences Then let them make their own decisions This develops self-reliance

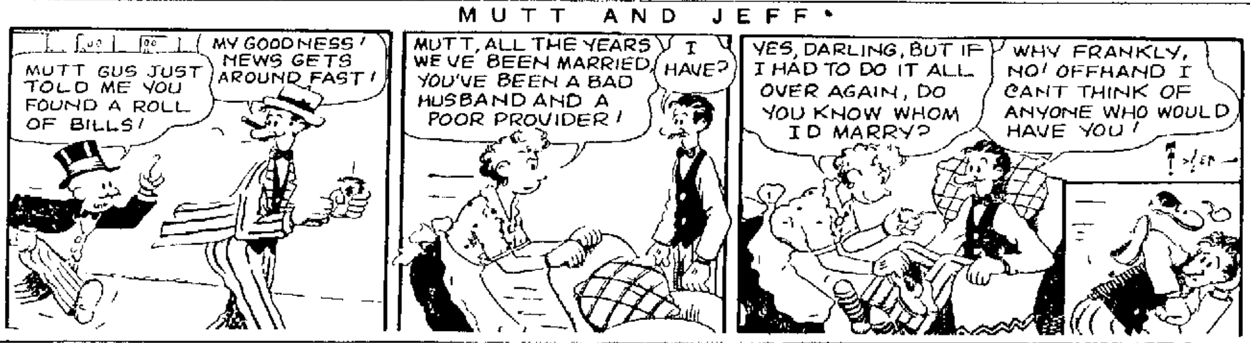

2 Not quite, but both are learned habits You forget the name of the man you met last week because you learned the habit of paying no attention when introduced Also you may have learned the habit of not reviewing names facts etc immediately You should decide what you want to rememb then review review, review as soon as possible

3 Never if you transform it from a feeling of self-pity and failure into one of determination to overcome it by achievement One writer tells of a girl whose father insisted that she wear such peculiar hats and dresses that she suffered inferiority When she got away from his domination she became one of the most famous fashion designers in the world

POINTS FOR PARENTS

BY EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Not This This

Father Will I have to whip you to make you mind
Mother Stop being such a dominant father This article says we should allow children to make their own decisions

Father No one can do as he wishes all the time Son We should not do the things that harm us or those that are unfair to others You understand that don't you?

A desirable medium between too much and too little parental control is the kind of guidance that encourages growth in self control
